The Talk of Face-to-Face Khrushchev Meeting

Officials Reported Cool Fear Renewed Tensions

P) — Soviet leaders reportedly have a talk today on the subject of a face-to-face meeting with Khrushchev. The meeting is expected to be held in East Berlin.

forces have no role in Soviet-controlled East Berlin.

New Status Khrushchev has been demanding for four years that the West accept a new status for West Berlin and abandon its occupation role. In recent months he has stepped up his threat to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany and turn over full control of Western access routes to Berlin to East Germans.

Soviets Admit Poor Harvest

MOSCOW (AP)—The harvest in the Leningrad region is extremely unsatisfactory, according to official Soviet reports reaching here.

The newspaper Leningrad Pravda said an emergency meeting of the Leningrad regional Communist party organization had ordered drastic measures to step up harvest work.

The front page editorial said only 66 per cent of the grain crops had been harvested in the region by Sept. 15. Only 37 per cent of the potatoes and 31 per cent of the vegetable crops had been brought in, it added.

Runaway Car Rips Into Restaurant; 3 Killed

NEW YORK (AP) — "There were bodies under the car," said Max Bahn, still shaken. "Food and plates and glasses and silverware and everything was scattered all over."

A big automobile had leaped over a 2½-foot-high granite window sill and dived through the plate glass into Rosoff's restaurant on West 43rd Street, just off Times Square. Seconds later three persons were dead and six were injured, one seriously.

Air Ace Dies In Crash as Wife Watches

ANGMERING, England (AP) — "Go out into the garden," air ace Geoffrey Marler telephoned his pretty wife Brenda. "I want to give you a show."

The millionaire shoe manufacturer then took off from a nearby airport in his silver and red plane.

Brenda, 28, a former London fashion model, hurried out into the garden of their home with her three children.

Zooming low, Marler, 55, roared over the house, banked and waved to his family.

He gunned the plane into a loop, but coming out of it the engine sputtered. A wing tip hit a big yew tree in the Marler's garden. Mrs. Marler and her children saw the World War II pilot struggling at the controls.

Screaming, Mrs. Marler rushed down to the beach. She watched in horror as the plane's wreckage drifted slowly toward the shore with the body of her husband.

Russia Says U.S. Risks War Over Cuban Issue

Argentina Rebels Switch Loyalties; Fighting Spreads

Machine Guns Battle as Troops, Tanks Blaze Away in Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Loyalist leader, Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, turned down an invitation to attend because he felt any such meeting should be held at Campo de Mayo.

Police said early today a soldier died from bullet wounds suffered in an exchange of fire between air force jets and loyalist troops on a train near Moron Air Base in the vicinity of Buenos Aires.

Machine gun fire rattled in exchange between the World War II Sherman tanks and troops of Gen. Juan Carlos Lorio, erstwhile supporter of Guido who split with him and joined a navy move to oust the president and install a three-man military junta.

The clash came in Constitution Plaza, site of one of the capital's major railway terminals.

Six Reported Dead Previous actions had taken a toll of six dead, of whom five were civilians, and at least 28 wounded.

Francie military and political maneuvers had turned the tables in the night.

The original rebels, headed by Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, now called themselves the legalists. With return of constitutional government as their continued aim, they pledge to keep Guido in power and insure elections for a new government.

The loyalists, who had battled with many words and occasional shots for Guido through four days of crisis, are now the rebels.

The navy, which had kept on the sidelines, proposed a three-man military junta to stop the drift toward civil war.

Rebel leaders refused to attend a top level meeting called to discuss the plan and said President Jose Maria Guido was resisting navy pressure to resign.

Troops Deployed Political maneuvering continued through the night as troops of both the rebels and so-called loyalists were deployed in the capital.

Scattered clashes during the rebellion, now in its fifth day, have killed six persons, five of them civilians.

The navy suggested early today a cease-fire and that Guido be replaced by a junta made up of Navy Rear Adm. Carlos Sanchez Sanudo, Army Lt. Gen. Arturo Ossorio Arana, and Air Force Commander Oscar Lentino.

Soon afterward the navy said, Guido had offered his resignation to the Council of Admirals. But Guido's secretary denied he was quitting and a spokesman at the rebel stronghold of Campo de Mayo near Buenos Aires said the president had notified them he intends to remain at his post.

There was no immediate comment from the navy on Guido's reported refusal to resign.

Leaders Meet The meeting of top leaders began at a heavily guarded building of the navy secretariat.

Sticky Valve Causes Delay in Six Orbit Try

Shot Can't Come Until Oct. 3; May Even be Later

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A sticky valve in Walter M. Schirra's "Sigma 7" spacecraft has caused a delay until at least Oct. 3 and probably longer, in his attempt to orbit the earth six times.

The proposed flight hit a snag Friday when preflight checkout disclosed a problem with a selector valve in the capsule's automatic control system. Rather than take a chance on the valve, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration called off the flight until at least Oct. 3. It had been scheduled for Sept. 28.

Space agency officials said the exact cause of the difficulty was not known. They said only that a valve was sticking and that the spacecraft would have to be removed from the Atlas for study.

Other project people reported that removal of the spacecraft would mean a delay until at least Oct. 8. They noted that the trouble would have to be isolated and corrected. Then the capsule would have to be elevated once again to the top of the Atlas booster for a minimum 11-day checkout before launching.

No Comments Schirra had no comment on the postponement. He reportedly was disappointed and was keeping in close contact with developments.

The problem valve regulates the flow of hydrogen peroxide fuel to small jets located at several spots on the capsule surface. These jets, which help control the spacecraft's position in flight—that is, over-coming roll, pitch and yaw and keeping it aligned at the proper angle with earth—operate automatically, or the pilot can fire them by manual control.

Schirra's flight of six orbits would keep him aloft twice as long as the journeys of astronauts John H. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter.

But Stevenson Tells U.N. It Is Soviet Union Who Threatens World Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union accused each other of risking war over Cuba in a head-on clash Friday night before the General Assembly.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko brought up the explosive Cuban issue in a 90-minute general policy speech delivered on the eve of a meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who is arriving in New York for a week's stay.

Gromyko accused the United States of aggressive acts toward Fidel Castro's regime and said a U.S. attack on Cuba would mean war.

U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson, replying immediately, said the Soviet Union is threatening peace by supplying military aid to Cuba.

Threat to Peace "We are not taking and will not take offensive action in this hemisphere, neither will we permit aggression in this hemisphere," Stevenson said.

"The threat to peace in Cuba comes not from the United States but from the Soviet Union. The threat arises from the extraordinary and unnecessary flood of Soviet arms and military personnel pouring into Cuba."

Gromyko said President Kennedy's Sept. 13 news conference statement on Cuba meant "that the United States is at liberty to mount military action against Cuba and that it will itself decide when to deem it necessary to start an invasion."

Already, he said, the United States is practicing aggressive acts against Cuba by providing arms and equipment to Cuban refugees for "pirate sorties" against their homeland. The United States does so, he said, because the Cuban system "is not to its liking."

"The United Nations will be killed if this policy prevails," he said.

But, said Gromyko, nowadays

Fear Panic in Mississippi if Gas Escapes

Ponder Ways to Remove Tons of Poisonous Chlorine

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Experts studied ways today to remove 1,100 tons of poisonous chlorine from a sunken barge in the Mississippi River near here.

And city and county officials pondered ways of keeping their 80,000 residents from going into a panic at the thought of what an accident could mean—lethal doses of chlorine gas drifting through towns and fields, into homes and business houses.

"There is no immediate danger right now," said Sheriff William Ferrell. "I trust the welfare of this county to the experts at the scene."

But the mayor of this town of 23,000 in south Mississippi, John Nossner, issued an ominous statement.

20,000 Masks

When the time comes for the raising of the sunken gas, he said, he would "advise every family that can get away to visit relatives to go ahead."

He said 20,000 gas masks are ready, if needed.

Either way, all concerned agreed there was no immediate danger. It will be at least October before the raising operation can get started, and it may be six weeks after that before it's finished.

The hearts of the people in this city started skipping beats when word got around that the U.S. Public Health Service in Washington was saying a mass evacuation might be advisable.

If enough gas escapes, and the wind is right, it "could kill up to 40,000 people," the Public Health Service said.

Arrest Honor Student In Theft of Parts for Electronics Invention

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Detectives say a 17-year-old honor high school student committed at least 70 break-ins to obtain parts for an electronics invention he was building.

Officers had recently announced the strange series of burglaries, over an 18-month period, in which the theft was usually one television tube, one microscope lens or some other individual piece of electronic or scientific equipment.

Detectives yesterday arrested Pierre J. Faucher, 17, and charged him with breaking and entering and grand larceny. He was released to the custody of his parents, pending court action.

Dade County Detective Charles Maddox said the youth showed officers his plans for a revolutionary television set tester.

New Appleton Pastor Worked In Thailand

Called to Christian And Missionary Alliance Church

The Rev. Clark Gardner, who returned in May from 10 years of missionary work in Thailand, is the new pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in Appleton.

The Gardners have moved into a new parsonage purchased by the congregation at 1500 E. Pershing St.

The Rev. Mr. Gardner and his wife did pioneer missionary work in villages not previously reached by the church, and for the last four years did revival work in northeast Thailand.

The Rev. Mr. Gardner is a native of Pontiac, Mich. Mrs. Gardner originally is from Gibbon, Neb. Both are graduates of the St. Paul Bible College, St. Paul, Minn.

Churches Served.

Mr. Gardner was pastor at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in Cass Lake, Minn., and the Community Church in Savage, Mont., before leaving for Thailand in 1952.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance has done missionary work in Thailand for 30 years, and now has a staff of 45 missionaries and a medical team and 65 organized churches. 65 regular preaching stations and a Bible school.

The Gardners spent their first three years in Thailand in Burum Province, where they were the only white people among 500,000 natives. They spent the last four years in Roi-Et Province.

Photographic Display

The Rev. Mr. Gardner is a professional photographer, and has a display of 150 black and white prints and eight colored prints of their work in Thailand. The display will be exhibited at the church's missionary convention in Appleton Oct. 14 through 17, and will be shown on a television program Oct. 13.

The Rev. Mr. Gardner has traveled extensively in the United States giving lectures and showing his photographic display at missionary conventions.

The Gardners have three sons, two of them born in Thailand.

The Rev. Mr. Gardner is replacing the Rev. Roy Stenlund, who has moved to St. Paul, Minn.

My pedometer tells me I already have walked 160 miles. About 70 of those miles, however, have been made in steps around cities, village and farms, which I have visited. Only 90 miles or so have been made on the due course to Oconto.

I estimate I have been walking at the rate of 120 steps per minute, achieving almost five miles per hour.

My shoes are beginning to wear out, but, happily, I am not. At long last I have achieved what I had sought from the beginning — the hard toughness to hit the road with physical joy.

Our Charlie Reports He's in Great Shape After Five Days of Walking

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SHAWANO LAKE — I came to a pleasant halt here under sullen skies and a flurry of raindrops. I am now able to report I find myself road-hardened and tough. It is a condition I have been seeking.

No longer do I tire on a hard day of trekking toward my journey's end at Oconto, no longer do my muscles stiffen after a roadside pause.

This is a physical condition dearly sought. It is achieved only by persistent action, it is why athletes train.

I now have been hiking Wisconsin by-ways for five days. Each long day was easier, more pleasant than the one before. And today I know for the first time that I am truly ready for the road and that I can walk as far as time-not muscles—

I departed from my bed at Pine Lake, near Embarrass, where I was the guest of that community's only Irishman, Pat O'Connell.

With O'Connell and his friends, Gary Below of Clintonville, and Gary Krubsack of Embarrass, I prowled the countryside.

"That's so you can report honestly that Embarrass and the country around it is a wonderful place," said O'Connell.

I can, indeed, and I can add that not many places have more hospitable citizens.

I stopped at Silver Lake to visit with Dave Duffey, one of the nation's most able and articulate experts on the subject of hunting dogs. Duffey, is the dog editor for a national magazine and began writing with the Post-Crescent.

'Homegrown' Chair

In Embarrass, I visited the small furniture factory of Krubsack, the Northern Upholstery Co. There I learned of a wonderful chair which was "grown" by Gary's uncle, John Krubsack.

Back in 1908 the elder Krubsack planted 28 seeds from a box of elder tree, placing each seed in a preconceived diagram. He water and tended the young sprouts as they grew. After three years, Krubsack tied the trunks together to create suitable and properly shaped legs, arms, seat and back rest.

He made some delicate graftings of trunks and branches, pruned and trimmed the growing trees as the years went by. Then, — voila — 11 years after the plantings were made, Krubsack had a fine, stalwart, home-grown chair.

Now in a museum, the chair is soon to be returned to Embarrass.

Wonderful Sandwich

My lunch on the road today consisted of homemade bread, which was baked by Helen Bauer and presented to me by Esther Jessie. A sliced cucumber between the wonderful bread made as good a sandwich as any man could want.

Today's junket on a big highway (22) has not been as rewarding as the pretty roadsides. I have been roaming. The nearly barren roadsides, the ailing plants and weeds and the persistent gasoline odors robbed much of the day of its charm.

Add the grey, lead-colored sky to that and my journey was merely a journey.

The day was brightened by a hearty greeting from Mrs. Charles Elliott of the Shawano Chamber of Commerce.

Rescued Again

And, once again, the luck of the wayfarer came to save me from an unpleasant, cold night of sleeping out of doors. The rescue was made by Mr. and Mrs. Archie Butth, an affable, jolly couple whose home on Shawano Lake is my resting place for the night.

Tomorrow I will push on to other places and it is my intention to tune down my fast pace to a casual, dilatory one, so that I may better see, enjoy and report the Wisconsin autumn which is almost here.

I can make the casual prediction that I will reach Oconto by Monday.

Your Problems

Mother-in-Law Represented; Denied Vote in Son's Affairs

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just turned 21. For many years I have known that my mother has been cheating on my dad.

Dad admits he has been aware of this for ten years, never wanted my brother and me to be hurt so he said nothing and did Ann Landers nothing.

My hurt has been long healed. Mother lost all my love and respect when I first learned of her affair. She is still carrying on with the same man after all these years and dad continues to be deaf, dumb and blind. I think he is a fool to let her get away with this. I've tried to get him to divorce mother and find a decent woman who could give him the happiness he is entitled to but he refuses to listen.

Maybe if he saw your advice he would take it. And perhaps if my mother saw it she would realize what she has done to all of us. — Jerry

Dear Jerry: Neither your dad nor your mother wrote for advice so I have none for them—but I do have some for you.

Your mother doesn't deserve any good conduct medals, but your behavior is also unspeakable.

There's an outside chance that you don't know all the facts relating to your mother's behavior — or your father's either. So why don't you put away that pitchfork sis, and let your parents work out their problems as best they can?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am allowing a trivial matter to assume serious proportions and it may wreck my marriage. Please say something to set me on the right track.

Several months ago I married a widower. I was a widow. We've known each other for many years. Everything was fine until I learned he gets part of his mail at his daughter's home.

I can think of no reason of this except a few dividend checks which he turns over to his children. He has told me about the dividends but they don't amount to much. I have money of my own and don't need his.

Twice I have suggested he receive all his mail at our home, but he continues to use his daughter's mailing address. What shall I do now? — D.W.

Dear D.W.: Now forget it. The first sentence of your letter describes the situation beautifully. Don't cut off your head to cure a headache.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've never heard of this problem before and I'll bet you haven't either. I have a very nice girl friend and we get along great together. Whenever I eat at her house I get sick to my stomach.

When she eats at my house the same thing happens. When we have lunch together at school I have no trouble. Also, when we eat in a public place I am perfectly fine. It is only when we eat at her house or mine that I get sick.

Can you help me? —Barfville
Dear Barfville: I'm sure you've guessed your problem is emotional. Something about your home atmosphere is making you uncomfortable in this girl's presence. It may be that your home is quite different

Issue Permit for New Supermarket

A building permit has been issued by City Inspector Walter Bogan for construction of a $95,000 supermarket building at 1933 N. Richmond St.

The building will be erected by Abo S. Sher and Leo Tugenberg, both Milwaukeeans, and will be leased for an A&P store.

Located in a commercial and light manufacturing district, the building will have a frontage of 100 feet and depth of 125 feet. It will be 16 feet high, and of masonry and steel construction.

Construction will start in the near future, according to the developers.

years and dad continues to be deaf, dumb and blind. I think he is a fool to let her get away with this. I've tried to get him to divorce mother and find a decent woman who could give him the happiness he is entitled to but he refuses to listen.

Maybe if he saw your advice he would take it. And perhaps if my mother saw it she would realize what she has done to all of us. — Jerry

Dear Jerry: Neither your dad nor your mother wrote for advice so I have none for them—but I do have some for you.

Your mother doesn't deserve any good conduct medals, but your behavior is also unspeakable.

There's an outside chance that you don't know all the facts relating to your mother's behavior — or your father's either. So why don't you put away that pitchfork sis, and let your parents work out their problems as best they can?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am allowing a trivial matter to assume serious proportions and it may wreck my marriage. Please say something to set me on the right track.

Several months ago I married a widower. I was a widow. We've known each other for many years. Everything was fine until I learned he gets part of his mail at his daughter's home.

I can think of no reason of this except a few dividend checks which he turns over to his children. He has told me about the dividends but they don't amount to much. I have money of my own and don't need his.

Twice I have suggested he receive all his mail at our home, but he continues to use his daughter's mailing address. What shall I do now? — D.W.

Dear D.W.: Now forget it. The first sentence of your letter describes the situation beautifully. Don't cut off your head to cure a headache.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've never heard of this problem before and I'll bet you haven't either. I have a very nice girl friend and we get along great together. Whenever I eat at her house I get sick to my stomach.</

Conference for Nurses Planned

ELLISON BAY — A vacation in the woods will be combined with a two-day conference for professional nurses at "The Clearing" in Ellison Bay, Oct. 24, 25 and 26.

Offered by the University of Wisconsin Extension Division Department of Nursing, this conference on "Supervision and the Staff Nurse" will be held in the picturesque setting of forests, cliffs and shores founded and built in 1935 by Jens Jensen of Chicago.

The conference is designed to give the nurse a deeper understanding of the purpose and process of supervision and an opportunity to see how supervisory activities and responsibilities relate to improved patient care.

The keynote speaker will be Theresa Phelps, R. N., executive director of the Greater Detroit District Nurses Association and former faculty member of the West Kilbourn Ave., Milwaukee.

Emmanuel EUB Church To Start New Schedule

Emmanuel Evangelical United Ave., will begin a new schedule Brethren Church, 740 E. College of services Sunday.

The new schedule will include a second service of worship each Sunday morning. The time of the Sunday morning services will be 8:30 a.m. for the first service of worship, 9:35 a.m. for church school, and 10:45 a.m. for the second service of worship.

Nursery care will be provided for pre-school children at both services of worship.

University of Michigan School of Nursing.

The conference is open to professional nurses of hospitals, nursing homes, public health agencies, industries and other interested nurses. Further information and applications may be obtained from the Department of Nursing, District Nurses Association and University Extension Division, 600 West Kilbourn Ave., Milwaukee.

SYMBOL OF FAITH

To Each of Us if we stop and remember, there is a place with which we associate the beginning of our faith. The place can be a city cathedral and a priest, or a boys club and a club leader, or a simple village church with its' spire reaching upward. The minister, the Sunday school superintending, parents, or grandparents, may have gone long since, but each helped us along the road.

Revisiting such a place is to remember, and remembering is to realize that we too have a duty to become the inspiration for another life of faith.

Catholics Deluged By News of Council

Press Takes Full Advantage Of 'Best Ever Opportunity'

BY JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

For three years the momentum has been building. Slowly, then with mounting regularity, Catholics have been deluged from pulpit and press with information about the second Vatican council which opens Oct. 11. Catholic bishops throughout the world have written about 300 pastoral letters to their flocks concerning the council.

More than a dozen books, of Catholic and non-Catholic authorship, have appeared, with countless newspaper and magazine articles in the religious and secular press.

Avalanche to Come

It would be safe to say every one of the 500-plus Catholic publications in the United States has taken full advantage of this "best ever opportunity," as one priest information director styled it, to explain the church to Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

The real avalanche is yet to come.

The next edition of Catholic Digest, the church's most successful and one of its most influential publications (current U.S. circulation 705,000), will contain nothing but items concerning the council, the first time in its history a single theme has dominated its usually varied pages. Other prominent Catholic periodicals already have published or plan similar cover-to-cover issues.

Once the council opens, it is doubtful whether its day-to-day news developments will be made available to the extent Americans might expect.

This fact was underlined dramatically three weeks ago when Very Rev. John E. Kelly, highly respected information director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, resigned to return to parish work. An apparent indifference toward facilitating press coverage of the council influenced his resignation.

While facilities are being arranged for as many as 800 accredited press correspondents to cover the council, many reporters expect a good deal of restriction.

"Correct Attitude"

Rules of procedure for reporters, as outlined by the Vatican, insist that they "will observe a correct attitude" in reference to the Pope and the Catholic Church, though it isn't explained what this means specifically.

Another regulation states "It is also forbidden to approach and consult persons who are residents, employees or visitors in Vatican City"—a rule which baffles American reporters.

Taking note of apparent impediments to news coverage, the Jesuit journal America pointed out recently that Pope John XXIII himself had said publicly that press cooperation "seems not only useful but in certain ways indispensable" for the council.

Inaccuracy Increases

Aware that the chance for inaccuracy increases the further a reporter is kept from the source of the news, the Protestant publication Christian Century observed: "The rule (against direct communication with reporters) will not prevent an outpouring of news from Rome during the council. It is its existence should warn readers to double check on the reliability of all reports."

Tax News From the Campuses

We acknowledge the effective comparison of a colleague writing in another newspaper as he wrestled with the problem of illuminating the mass of statistics in the current news columns on the historic enrollment peaks at our tax-supported state universities and colleges.

He reminded that the expected 11,000 increase in the student populations at these schools during the next two years is about equal to the typical total enrollment at the University at Madison during the years preceding World War II.

Doubtless those alumni of the university who are now approaching middle age and who walked up Bascom Hill in those days thought that the campus was densely populated, and that the institution was a giant one, as indeed it was. Yet here we have a graphic reminder of the enormity of the educational demand of the present time, which we are solemnly assured by the deans and presidents is merely a foreshadowing of what is inevitable during the rest of the decade and until there is a new balance in the age groupings of the general population.

The comparison of student enrollments with those known by the alumni now nearing middle age is useful in another context. For these earners in the middle years will bear the main financial pressure of these skyrocketing university and college statistics.

One of the significant events of our times has been the polarization of the population, as the statisticians would put it. The big bulges are in the age groupings of the very young, and the very old, reflecting high birth rates over a long succession of years on the one hand, and improved medical care and concomitant factors that have stretched the average life span.

These are good and happy developments, as, indeed, is the fact that thousands more of our young people today are preparing for university and college as a matter of course although they come from families that rarely made such assumptions. We can think of no greater proofs of the health and vigor of our state.

But it contains a price tag. The budget requests now being publicized tell the story in sobering terms. There can be no question whatever that the budget makers at Madison during these next two years will have the most painful jobs of their careers. The outlook makes it more important that we choose carefully and well when we elect members of the legislature in November and the man who will be responsible for executive leadership in the governor's office.

Chip on Shoulder Game

The West has often been scored for its "timid" policy in Berlin and in dealing with the Soviet Union in general. It has often been pointed out that knocking down the Wall in the building stage or aiding the refugees shot as they attempted to escape might have given the Russians some second thoughts about their pressure policies. But until recently the voices of "take care" and "go slow" have prevailed.

Last week, however, both the United States and England took actions that put us right in this game of bluster and bluff—and so far we have won each match.

A few weeks ago, when tensions were at an all time high in Berlin, the Russians switched from buses to tanks in their daily authorized trips to a checkpoint in the British sector of Berlin. They also took the long way around, entering through the United States "Checkpoint Charlie" and showed off their might and brawn in the streets of West Berlin.

First, the United States sent word that the tours would have to stop and that the Russians would have to enter through the British gate which is the closest to the destination. There were those who bit their fingernails and fretted. What if the Russians refused? Would the Americans keep the gates closed? Would the Russians shoot their way through? Was a nuclear war to start over the seemingly minor matter of which gate the Russians could come through?

But the Soviet tanks were re-routed. They went through the British gate.

Next NATO authorities told the Russians they would have to go back to the buses even if an occasional rock from an irate West Berliner did come through the windshield. Again there were worries and speculation. And again the Russians acceded to the demands.

The United States then announced and made a show of transporting 1500 troops en masse through East Germany to Berlin while the British sent in some fighter planes to demonstrate that the access routes in the sky were open. The incidents were minor and few. Nobody started a nuclear war.

The results of the changes in policy should demonstrate that Russia is reluctant to start a war over Berlin or to give the East Germans the means of pulling the trigger. The chip on the shoulder game is dangerous and may even seem a little childish. But it appears to be more dangerous, as far as the West and freedom are concerned, not to play it.

Holidays on Blue Monday

The proposal that all holidays or at least most of them be scheduled on Monday has been discussed at various times for many years. The first Monday in September was chosen for Labor Day and everyone seems to agree that that was a good idea. Why not then have other holidays which are not anniversary dates observed on Monday? They could be easily moved to the Monday closest to the present date of observance. For example Memorial Day might readily be observed on the last Monday in May and Independence Day on the first Monday in July, and Thanksgiving Day perhaps on the last Monday in November.

Most people agree that it would be impossible to change such dates as Christmas Day and New Year's so are willing to make exceptions in those instances.

Many people acknowledge that the observance of holidays on Monday would be a big improvement over our present method.

But while people have seen the value of such a change no way has been found

Saving Wildlife Species

In Kenya, Africa, a Fauna Preservation Society hopes to save from extinction one of the world's most attractive animal species, a shy antelope known to science as the Arabian oryx, which among persons of romantic spirit is commonly thought to be the origin of the mythical unicorn of classical folklore.

Three of the animals have been caught on the Arabian peninsula, where heavy hunting threatens their total annihilation, and the hope is that they can be kept with three others now in a London zoo in a warm climate location, possibly in the United States.

There is encouragement here to believe that there is an enlarging interest world-wide in the ethical concept of preservation of some of the perilously scarce birds and animals that may be pushed off the earth altogether by man's rapacity and the march of civilization into wilderness and semi-wilderness zones. It is a significant coincidence that the dispatches from Kenya that related the effort to save the oryx were published simultaneously with the bulletin of our own National Geographic Society that no less than 120 bird species around the world are now threatened with extinction. Some of them can be saved, but only through immediate and herculean efforts. At least 12 of the endangered species are native to our United States.

Nor should we in Wisconsin, with a comparatively rich endowment of wildlife in quantity and variety, look down our noses about the dangers to the survival of wild birds and animals in other parts of the country or elsewhere on the earth. Our own record in conservation is a good one, relatively, but we have some apologies to make to posterity, nevertheless.

Contemporary generations are not especially to blame here, but it is worth reciting again that such once native animals as moose, elk, cougar, bison, marten, fisher and wolverine are extinct for all practical purposes. Similarly extinct are the wild turkey, the whooping crane and the trumpeters swan, among others. Every school child knows the story of the passenger pigeon, which once clouded the Wisconsin skies, but which was totally destroyed here and as far as science knows does not have a single live representative remaining, anywhere in the world.

There have been attempts to reestablish some of these, such as the turkey, the elk, and even the marten and the fisher, with indifferent results. The advance of agriculture, the increase in the population, the invasion by man of the deep wilderness habitat of some of these wildlings, have driven them away, or annihilated them altogether. It is a sad story, but one that should lead us today to resolve that it won't happen again if intelligent management programs can prevent it.

BY JULES LON

AP News Service Writer

The announced aim of the Second Vatican Council to promote Christian unity has gotten most of the headlines, but actually it is only one of a dozen major topics on the proposed agenda.

The main work of the council — which opens Oct. 11 and will last at least a year, perhaps longer — will be mostly in the category of ecclesiastical house-keeping.

As the accompanying map shows, the Catholic Church now encompasses 550,356,000 persons in every corner of the world. Its growth has resulted in an enormous administrative problem, as well as difficulties in keeping its teachings and practices tidy among so many varying cultures.

Role of Bishop

One of the council's most important tasks, therefore, will be to spell out more precisely the role of the approximately 2,000 bishops who tend the far flung flock.

Catholics regard their bishops as the successors to the apostles, with the same relation to the Pope as the apostles had to Peter.

The First Vatican Council a century ago defined the position and powers of the Pope. "The Second Vatican Council," said Boston's Richard Cardinal Cushing, "must now do the same thing in delineating with new insight the position and authority of the bishops."

For the past several months the bishops, who will make up the council, have been studying a proposed agenda. It was drawn up by more than 1,000 preparatory workers — 66 of them from the United States — during the past three years.

2,060-Page Agenda

None of the other 20 councils in the church's history has been so thoroughly prepared.

The agenda, all 2,060 pages of it, is divided into 12 general

Looking Backward

'A Death Blow to Rebellion!'

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Sept. 5, 1862.

All slaves in Rebel States to be Declared Free after Jan. 1st, 1863: Enforcement of Confiscation Act! A Death Blow to Rebellion!

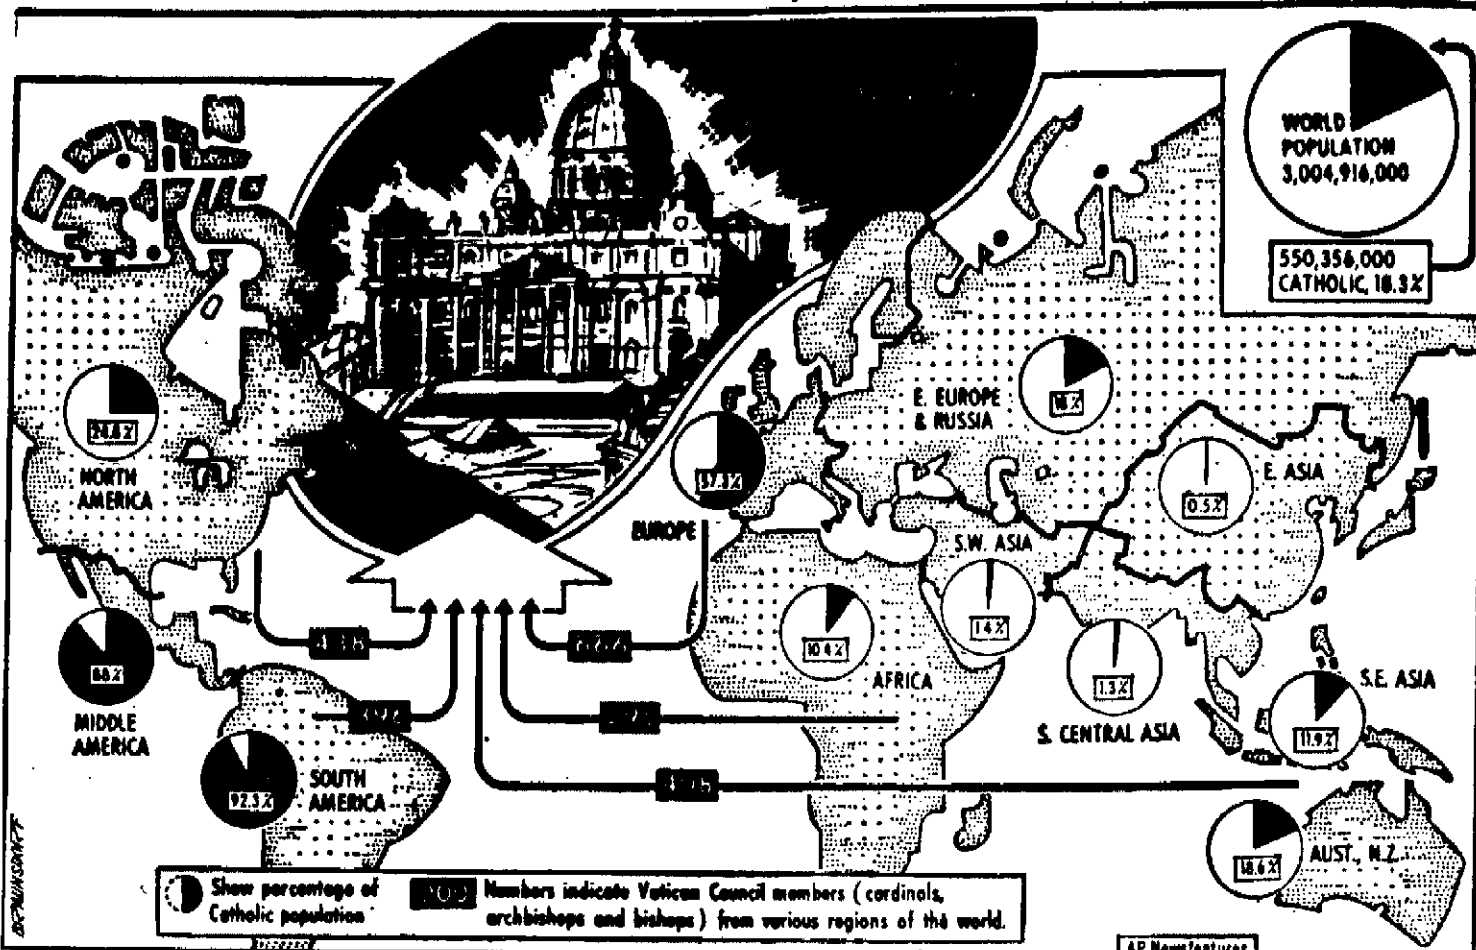

Sept. 22, 1862 — I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy thereof, hereby proclaim and declare that hereafter, as heretofore, the war will be prosecuted for the object of practically restoring the constitutional relations between the United States and the people thereof, in which States that relation is or may be suspended or disturbed.

That is my purpose upon the next meeting of Congress to commend the adoption of a practical measure tending pecuniary aid to the free acceptance or rejection of all the Slave States, so called, the people whereof may not then be in rebellion against the United States, and which States may then have voluntarily adopted the immediate or gradual abolishment of slavery within their respective limits, and that the efforts to colonize persons of African descent, with their consent, upon the continent or elsewhere, with the previously obtained consent of the governments existing there, will be continued.

That on the first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, all persons held as slaves within any State, or any designated parts of a State, the people whereof shall then be in rebellion against the United States, shall be then, thenceforward and forever free and the Executive Government, including the military and naval authority thereof, will recognize and maintain the freedom of such persons or any of them in any efforts they make for their actual freedom.

That attention is hereby called to an Act of Congress, approved March 13th, 1862.

All officers or persons in the military or naval service of the United States are prohibited from employing any of the forces under their respective commands for the purpose of returning fugitives from service or labor who may have escaped from topics, each subdivided in turn into as many as 17 specific categories. The 12 topics are:

Theology; bishops and government of dioceses; discipline of clergy and laity; religious communities; sacraments; liturgy; studies and seminaries; Eastern churches; missions; laity; communications media; and Christ-Christian unity.

The council won't be hidebound by the agenda, though. The definition of papal infallibility, the most important work done by the last council, 100 years ago, wasn't even on the agenda.

Non-Catholic Topics

Even though most of the topics are of a strictly Catholic nature there will be much done at the council of interest to non-Catholics.

For example, the bishops will study a proposal to assert religious freedom as "a human right," and also will examine the church's position on church-state relations. Religious freedom also will be considered in discussions concerning Christian unity.

In the reform of canon law, the council is expected to emphasize social teachings.

"What a tragedy it will be," said Rev. H. A. Reinhold of Pittsburgh, "if we let Communism appear to be the only alternative to a 'free' economy. Let us keep in mind that our great adversary is the practical materialism of the whole world, not simply one of its crystallizations in communism."

Matter of Unity

Under the general heading of Christian unity, the council will study for subtopics: Catholic ecumenism, religious freedom, the necessity of prayers for unity, and the Bible as a means of union.

Augustin Cardinal Bea, the Vatican's Secretary for Promoting Christian Unity, has spoken at length on the subject and a clear view of some of the problems the council will face has emerged.

Some of the obstacles to unity, he has said, are "an immense accumulation of misinterpretation, of resentment and of misunderstanding between separated Christians... bitter historical memories that provoke mutual suspicion and aversion... widespread ignorance of one another's religious tenets and... the unexampled life of many Catholics."

Cardinal Bea has ruled out any compromise in the realm of dogma, but without closing the door to further doctrinal unity.

"Without sacrificing any revealed truth," he said, "the council could help to understand more clearly the whole of revealed truth.

Outside Observers

"The council could explain Catholic doctrine in a way that would take account of the changes of language that have occurred among our separated brothers from the time of separation up to now."

"Our theological propositions do not always express the full depth and richness of revealed doctrine. The council could, therefore... develop especially those aspects of revealed truth which answer their deepest needs and expectations."

The prospects in this field plainly are exciting, and will be of paramount interest to the 100-non-Catholic observers who will attend the sessions.

But the day to day business of the council is likely to be a good deal more pedestrian.

of Mr. and Mrs. Max Stieg, Clintonville, to enter the School of Engineering at the University of Wisconsin. He was a June graduate that year from Clintonville High School. The Stieg graduate engineers, brothers of Richard, included Bernard with the Atlas Conveyor Co., Clintonville; Robert, with the 4-Wheel Drive engineering department; William, Milwaukee engineer, and John, an engineer with the Rhinelander Paper Co.

John Kappell and Marilyn Warner were elected flag raisers at Appleton High School. They were chosen by members of the Senior class.

Capt. Peter D. Van Dyke, Appleton, was cited for gallantry in action while serving as a chaplain for the 17th Infantry Regiment, Brig. Gen. W. C. Smith, commanding officer, presented Van Dyke with the Silver Star during ceremonies in Korea.

Reader Thinks Debate for Nelson, Wiley Valuable

Editor, Post-Crescent:

All of us who vote owe it to ourselves and our country — (that is, to our self-respect and intelligence, to national welfare, and in this age, to world safety) to make up our minds afresh, and with each election. This means that we do not vote from habit or hearsay, but from evidence about issues freshly studied, and for candidates heard and evaluated personally in comparison with their opponents.

Thus we dare not vote for a man simply because he has been long in office this may mean his thinking is geared to the past decade, past generation, even. There may be someone more vigorously, imaginatively in touch with the times, more capable of progress. He deserves to be heard.

Live democracy means that candidates face their opponents in public, answer questions and show that they are not just "ghosted" from an office or invisible propaganda counsel. What could be better, for example, than to have our two most important candidates in the November election, Senator Alexander Wiley and Governor Gaylord Nelson, face us from the platform of Appleton Senior High School or Lawrence College Chapel, and reply directly to each other and to questions from the floor? The same should be done on TV. Then and only then can we feel and see what we're voting for.

That one of them happens to be the incumbent gives him no excuse to avoid this test. Gaylord Nelson, as incumbent in the last election, welcomed the opportunity. To do so is a mark of responsibility to the high office, the issues and the voters.

Two Touchdown Passes Win for Fond du Lac '11'

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY

MENASHA — Touchdown passes of 33 and 40 yards carried Fond du Lac Springs to a 13-6 Fox Valley Catholic Conference triumph over St. Mary here Friday night.

Springs completed only three passes but on two occasions the receivers were wide open and the results were first and third quarter scores.

The Zephyrs were too generous for their own good in the first quarter and fumbled the ball away three times. The first two times they stopped the Ledgers on the 21 and 14-yard stripes but on the third, with a first down and 15 yards to go from the 33, quarterback Rick Martin and end Joe Wendels combined on their TD play. Jim Callahan kicked the extra point.

The Zephyrs lost the ball on a bobble again in the second quarter but regained possession on a pass interception by sophomore Tom Mortell. Their deepest penetration the first half was to the Springs 43 and it came on the last play of the segment.

Springs Tallies
Midway in the third period, Springs took over on the Zephyr 45 after a punt. The visitors made eight yards in two plays, lost five on a penalty but on the next play a pass from Martin to Tom Boyle found the latter alone by 10 yards in the flat and the senior halfback just had to waltz down field into the end zone for the score. The kick failed.

On the next series of plays, a beautiful run by Chuck Hoerke took the ball from the St. Mary 33 to the Springs two. He was dragged down from behind by a Springs' tackler who grabbed him by the shirt. St. Mary took four punches at the line but couldn't

Patriots Whip Denver, 41-16

Parilli Throws 2 TD Passes; Cappelletti Scores 17

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's blitzing defense hounded Frank Trippucka, Gino Cappelletti scored 17 points and the Patriots handed a 41-16 defeat to previously unbeaten Denver Friday night.

The Patriots broke open a 3-3 tie with a pair of second period touchdowns which started the Cinderella Bronco club toward a happy ending.

Cappelletti made a diving catch in the end zone to snare one of the two scoring strikes launched by Boston quarterback Babe Parilli.

Cappelletti, AFL record-breaking scorer of 1961, also booted a pair of field goals and five conversions.

Scoops Up Ball
An alert defensive gang set up the tie-breaking score when Boston's Dick Felt scooped up a loose ball at the Denver 45 and raced to the 13. Parilli needed just one play to hit Jimmy Crawford with a swing pass to the right.

Defensive backs Fred Bruney, John High School football game and Ron Hall ran 33 and 54 yards, respectively, to second half scores intercepting aials by Trippucka, who had been the leading AFL passer.

Denver salvaged a league record when George Shaw, the NFL hally could have been played castoff, clicked with swift Jerry Tarr on a 97-yard touchdown pass did not want to cut up the field in the last period. Trippucka had, which is to be used by St. Norbert College in its home opener at 96 yards.

Kimberly '11' Scores Twice in Last Period To Top Truckers, 13-6

Kroner, Wentzel Lead Papermaker Ground Attack

BY JIM HARP

KIMBERLY — After sputtering for three quarters, the Kimberly High School offense clicked for a pair of touchdowns in the final period as the Papermakers came from behind for a 13-6 Mid-Eastern Conference victory over Clintonville here Friday night.

The Kimberly ground attack, led by quarterback Dennis Kroner and halfback Hal Wentzel, ground out plenty of yardage through the first three periods but when the Papermakers threatened the Trucker defense stiffened.

Clintonville took the lead near the end of the half when an intercepted pass gave the Truckers possession on the Kimberly 17. With 11 seconds left before the intermission, quarterback Bill Melzer fired a scoring pass to end Gordy Shaw. The point try was low.

3-Yard Plunge
Wentzel brought the Papermakers to a tie when he scored on the second play of the fourth period on a 3-yard plunge. Kron-

Ghosts Gain 12-2 Victory Over Jays

BY ED VAN BERKEL

LITTLE CHUTE — Playing here on a neutral field, in a steady drizzle, the Kaukauna Galloping Ghosts ground out a 12-2 win over the Menasha High School Bluejays to begin defense of their Mid-East Conference crown.

The win was the 18th straight for Kaukauna over a three-year span. The winners scored single touchdowns in the first and second periods, both a result of Menasha fumbles on its own 30-yard line. The wet ball proved to be trouble for Menasha, fumbling seven times with the Ghosts recovering four.

Kaukauna fumbled three times and lost the ball once. The first half was all Ghosts. The Jays had possession of the ball for only 13 plays, failed to chalk up a first down, had five fumbles, and a minus-1 yardage rushing. The winners managed 53 yards on the ground and completed one pass for 24 yards in the same two periods. Tim Versteegen and Dick Promer were big guns for Kaukauna in the opening half, assisted by Doug Baer.

First Score
Kaukauna kicked off to open the game, but the boot was fumbled and Kaukauna took over on its own 30-yard stripe. Versteegen gained a yard and Promer added three on an off-tackle slant. Versteegen then skirted end for 23 yards to put the winners in position on the 4-yard stripe.

After an offside penalty moved Kaukauna back to the nine, Baer scored six yards and Versteegen pulled into the end zone from the three. The try for point was wide of the mark.

Menasha took over with the kick-off, but after two plays fumbled and Dan Biese recovered for Kaukauna. Two plays later, Kaukauna fumbled, but the Jays fumbled again on the first play with Art Dorn recovering for Kaukauna.

The winners, hampered by a 15-

Cards Tip Dodgers, Trim League Lead To Three Games

San Francisco Triumphs Over Colts, 11-5; Wills Steals 95th couple of days. The Mets are very happy with their little asterisk. Maury Wills is not so happy at all.

BY BOB GREEN

An asterisk, of course, is the mark used in the record books to distinguish between marks set in a 154-game schedule and those set in 162. If it's 162, it gets an asterisk.

Wills, the Los Angeles Flash, failed by one to equal Ty Cobb's modern major league record for stolen bases, 96, as the Dodgers lost to St. Louis 11-2 in their 154th game of the season Friday night. And the loss, combined with San Francisco's 11-6 triumph over Houston, trimmed the Dodgers' National League lead to three games over the Giants. Each has eight games to go.

95th Base
Wills stole once, his 95th base, in the only really good chance he had against the Cardinals, but needed two to equal and three to break Cobb's record, set in 1915 with the Detroit Tigers. With eight games to go, he's almost certain to surpass it. With an asterisk.

The Mets are also almost certain to gain an asterisk for the 'most games lost in a season. But it'll be in 162 games, not 154. They had a share of the National League mark, 115 set by the 1935 Boston Braves going into their 154th game Friday night. They won it, 4-1, from the Chicago Cubs, so any loss record will have the softening, mitigating influence of the asterisk. The major league record is 117 by the 1916 Philadelphia A's.

Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh 7-3 behind Warren Spahn and Philadelphia defeated Cincinnati 8-6.

Koufax Starter
Sandy Koufax, sidelined more than two months with a circulatory ailment of the index finger of his left hand, was a surprise starter for the Dodgers against St. Louis, and lasted less than an inning.

He walked three men before Charley James hit a grand-slam homer. It was Koufax' sixth loss against 14 victories.

James' blow was more than enough margin for Curt Simmons (9-9), a last minute replacement for Bob Gibson, who suffered a bone fracture above his right arm.

Hawks Hand Marinette 36-7 Loss

BY RALPH MUELER

Xavier exploded to a 12-0 lead in the first five plays of the game and went on to hand Marinette Central a 36-7 defeat at Goodland Field Friday night. Xavier stretched its 3-year winning streak to 16 straight.

The Hawks were paced by their speedy halfback, Bob "Rocky" Bleier, who carried the ball only three times but tallied twice on runs of 45 and 25 yards. He accumulated 96 yards for a 32-yard average.

Bleier sped like a bullet for 45 yards on the third scrimmage play of the game, just two plays later Warren "Kip" Whittinger scampered 30 yards to paydirt after intercepting a pass.

Wiesner's conversion attempts after each of the first TDs failed. The first was due to a bad pass from center and the second was wide to the right.

Combines With Boots
Wiesner and Dick Boots combined on a 52-yard pass play for the third Xavier touchdown just prior to the end of the first quarter. Wiesner followed by making good on his first of three placements for extra points.

The Hawks controlled the ball for all but four plays of the second period. Tom Schueppert recovered one of three Marinette fumbles on the last play of the initial stanza, and the winners drove from the Cavalier 39 to the 11 where Wiesner proceeded to boot a 29-yard (total distance) field goal.

Central took over for four razzle-dazzle plays following the kick-off but relinquished the ball on downs. Xavier took over on the Marinette 47 and moved to the 20 before the half ended.

Coach Gene "Torchy" Clark's team drove 60 yards for their third period score. The drive was made possible by a fumble recovery by guard Kelly Kornely. Blier accounted for 26 of the 60 yards on an end run.

Wiesner whipped a pass to Bob Rammer, who in turn tossed a lateral to Tom Peeters for the touchdown.

It was another Kornely fumble recovery that made it possible for Blier's final run.

Marinette drove 65 yards for

Ships Gain 28-0 Verdict Over Fondy

FOND DU LAC — The Manitowoc Shipbuilders had things pretty much their own way as they romped to a 28-0 win over Fond du Lac in a Fox River Valley Conference game here Friday night.

The Ships scored once in the first period and twice in the second on short plunges in taking a 21-0 advantage at half-time.

In the third stanza, Manty quarterback, Phil Rohrer, took a roll-out and found daylight on a 73-yard jaunt to paydirt.

Pete Kramer revived the lost art of dropkicking by spitting the uprights on all four Manitowoc conversions.

Pete Ward's First Major League Hit Beats Twins, 3-2

Yanks Lose to White Sox but Remain 4½ Games in Front

BY MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

In the round-and-round-we-go American League pennant race, where the golden ring always seems to be 2 or 3 inches out of reach, the latest stars are two guys who just recently hopped aboard for the ride — Deacon Jones and Pete Ward.

Jones, a 19 at-bat veteran in comparison to one-hip-to-the-plate Ward, lashed a single with the bases-loaded in the ninth inning Friday night, capping a six-run uprising that gave the Chicago White Sox a 7-6 decision over the American League leading New York Yankees.

Ward came through in his first major league at-bat, belting a two-run pinch-hit single with the bases loaded in the seventh inning that broke a 1-1 tie and carried Baltimore to a 3-2 triumph over Minnesota's second-place Twins.

Although the Yankees lost, they managed to gain ground in their long drawn out battle to nail their 12th pennant in the last 14 years. The Twins' defeat left them 4½ games behind, and reduced the Yanks' magic-pennant clinching number to three.

Any combination of three New York victories and/or Minnesota defeats will clinch it for the defending world champions. The Yankees have seven games remaining, the Twins six.

The third-place Los Angeles Angels also lost an opportunity to cut into the Yankees' bugle, losing to Cleveland 9-6 when John Romano drove in the tie-breaking runs in the ninth inning. The Angels trail by 7½ games with eight left to play.

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit defeated Kansas City 6-1 behind Don Mossi's five-hit pitching and Boston downed Washington 4-1.

Yankee starter Whitey Ford held a 3-1 lead going into the sixth inning before rain halted play. When action was resumed after an hour's delay, Moose Skowron made it 5-1 with his 22nd homer. Ford faced two batters in the sixth, but was unable to loosen up, and Bud Daley took over, carrying a 6-1 lead into the ninth.

Then the White Sox erupted. Nellie Fox and Camilo Carreon singled, and Bob Roselli followed with a double that brought in one run. Luis Aparicio walked to load the bases and Joe Cunningham cleared them with a double. Floyd Robinson walked and Al Smith drove in the tying run with a double. Jim Landis then was intentionally walked and Jones came to the plate.

Buzhardt Wins

The rookie, up from Savannah of the Class A South Atlantic League, drove over the heads of the pulled-in outfield to win it for John Buzhardt (8-12). Marshall Bridges (8-4) took the loss; Camilo Pascual (19-10), seeking his 20th victory for the Twins, was locked in a 1-1 duel with Robin Roberts (10-8) when the Orioles started to roll in the seventh inning. Brooks Robinson and Jim Gentile opened the inning with walks and, one out later, Pascual well pitched the runners St. Mary plays lost 20 yards and up one base. Pascual went to a 3-2 count on John Powell, and on a punt, thereby wasting another scoring opportunity.

Twins Manager Sam Mele

ordered the fourth ball intentionally thrown wide to Powell, loading the bases. Marv Breeding, a pitcher coming at him, he could not kick and St. Mary took over on the 36. The Menashas made up a pinch hitter. He sliced three yards in three plays and then a roughing the passer penalty moved the ball to the 16 with four minutes left. Five plays later Mike Rausch went around end from the five for the score. The point kick was missed.

The Zephyrs had one more crack at the ball, completed a pass to the Springs 39 but two more passes before the final whistle fell incomplete.

For the second straight week the Menashas had a rushing edge, outgaining the Springs 158 yards to 107. Again it was passing and pass defense which failed them as the visitors had the better of it, 82 to 21.

Friday's Results

Hilbert 12, Omro 12.

Wrightstown 12, Reedsville 6.

Shiocton 4, Freedom 4.

A 79-yard touchdown pass play in the last minute of play lifted surprising Hilbert to its third straight victory (13-12) and a share of the top rung in the Little

Nine conference.

Wrightstown's strong Tigers clipped off their third win with two touchdowns in the last six minutes and a 13-0 gridiron victory over Reedsville.

Hortonville defeated Winnecon-ne, 25-12, while Shiocton was holding Freedom to a 6-6 tie in other

Friday afternoon league encounters.

Hilbert, fast becoming the Cinderella team of the Little Nine,

connected on the long touchdown

pass from Jerry Hackbarth to

Roger Schneider with just 45 seconds to play. Just 45 seconds earlier Omro had taken the lead for the first time when Lee pounded over from four yards out.

Hilbert scored in the first period

on a 70-yard drive. Lyle Roedig

scrambled the last 20 yards and

Gary Borneman kicked what proved to be the winning extra point. Omro scored its first touchdown on a quarterback run in the early moments of the action-packed

fourth period on a four yard slant by Lee.

Finley Warns A's Will Move Without Park

Council Balks at Proposed Cost of 20 Million Dollars

KANSAS CITY (AP) City councilmen generally were cool to Charles O. Finley's proposal that the city build a 50,000-seat stadium for his Kansas City Athletics.

Finley warned Kansas City will lose the A's without a new stadium.

The councilman took a guarded approach after learning the stadium would cost 15 to 20 million dollars. Mayor J. Roe Bartle, who made this estimate, said a tax increase would be required to finance it.

The councilmen took a guarded chairman of the finance committee, said "the people of this city wouldn't vote general obligation bonds for a 50,000 seat stadium."

Mayor Bartle said the council would hear Finley plans Friday but added that several major league stadiums are privately owned and the city views this as the best situation.

Finley cited declining attendance and financial losses and said if he couldn't get his request for a new stadium "through immediately, it will become necessary for me to make a request of the league to move and I am confident the request will be approved."

Melvin Ludwig's 586 Aggregate Leads League

Melvin Ludwig's 586 edged Ben Stepanski by one pin in the National Bowling League at Liesch's Alleys, Freedom.

Geenen's, Garvey and VFW are tied for first place in the league standings with 4-2 records.

Joe Ludwig Sr., slammed a 570 to top the National League at Ludwig Lanes. Vance Garvey hit a 552. Mossholder's Cheese (5-10) holds first place.

Casares May Not Start for Bears

ROYES HOT SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Rick Casares may not be able to start at fullback for the Chicago Bears Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams.

George Halas coach of the Bears, who are training here, said Casares suffered a re-injury to his left leg.

Halas said the leg has been injured several times and it may be necessary to rest Casares in order to insure him playing later on.

In Casares' place would be Joe Marconi, former fullback for the Bears, who was traded to the Bears recently.

7 Oshkosh Fumbles Fatal

South Gridders Score 19-13 Win Over Indians

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Sheboygan South took advantage of seven Oshkosh fumbles and scored the first time it had its hands on the ball in the first, third and fourth quarters, to beat the Indians here Friday night, 19-13, in the Fox River Valley Conference opener for both teams.

The fumbles led to only one of the South scores but killed several budding Oshkosh drives, including one on the Sheboygan 9 - yard line.

The Redmen came on strong in the second half to dominate play and were driving for another touchdown on the Oshkosh six when play ended.

Tony Baranovsky scored twice for South, on a 3-yard run in the first quarter, and from nine yards out in the third period. Tony Kaboord scored the final South TD on an 18-yard pass from Gary Kampman.

Scores Twice

Fullback Larry Kopitz scored both touchdowns for Oshkosh on plunges in the second and fourth periods.

The Indians controlled the first two quarters, outgaining Sheboygan on the ground, 168 yards to 50. But in the second half the situation was reversed as South rolled up 151 yards rushing to Oshkosh's 41.

Oshkosh fumbled on the fourth play of the game as Mike Zuehlke lost a pitchout and John Cinealis fell on the ball on the Oshkosh 45.

With third and seven on the 42, Kampman hit Kaboord with a short pass and he immediately lateraled to Mark Simon who carried down to the three before Roger Beck caught him from behind.

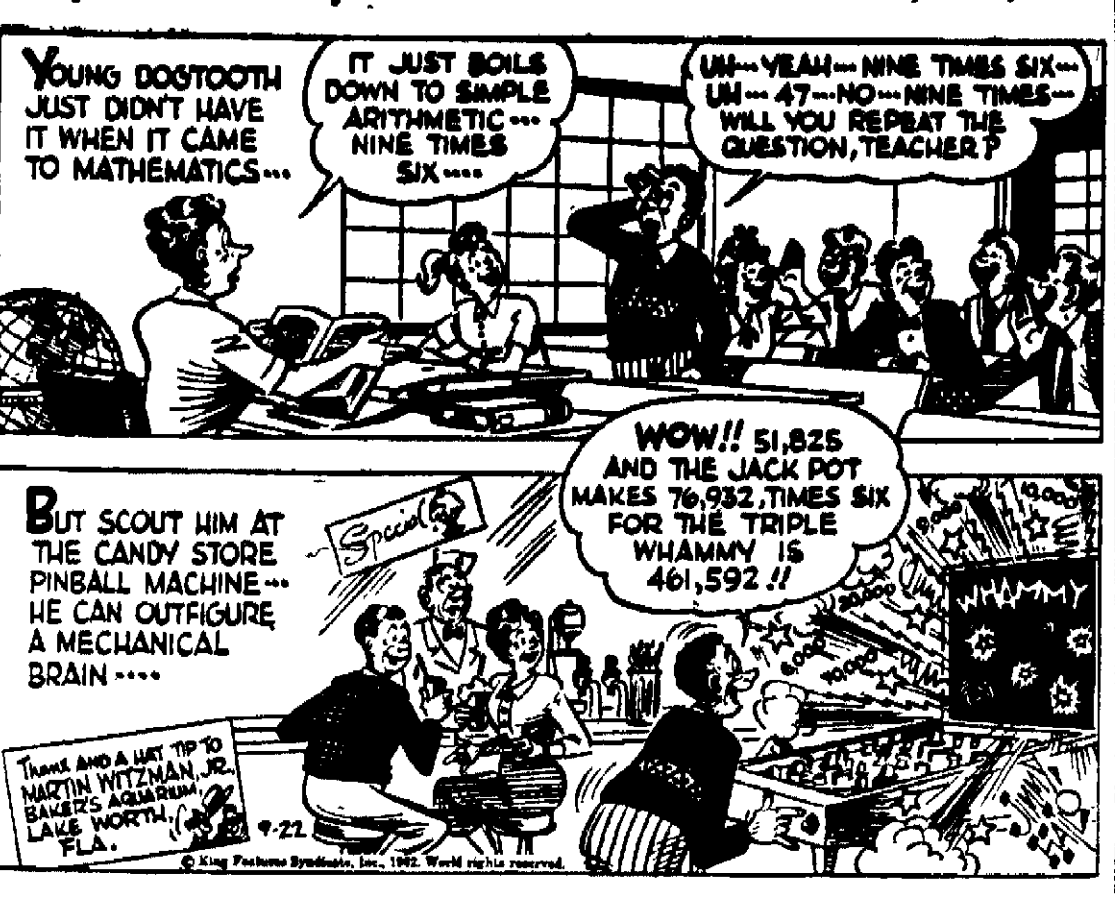

Baranovsky scored two plays later, and the try for extra point was blocked.

Oshkosh finally got a drive going late in the first period only to have it killed when Kopitz' fumble was recovered by Bill Mueller on the South nine.

Sheboygan punted out to Bill Steinhilber on the 36. Bill Paffenroth went up the middle for six and then carried around his own right end down to the one.

Kopitz carried over for the touchdowns and Bill Pries converted

Bobby Mitchell Returns to His Old Galloping Grounds in Redskin Suit

BY ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Speedster Bobby Mitchell returns to his old galloping grounds in the uniform of the Washington Redskins Sunday to battle his former teammates, the Cleveland Browns, in what looms as the day's most interesting National Football League contest.

Mitchell sparked four years for the Browns, favored to win the NFL's Eastern Division title this season, before being traded to the Redskins last winter.

The stellar halfback made his regular-season debut with the Redskins last Sunday, scoring three touchdowns in a 35-35 deadlock with the Dallas Cowboys.

With all NFL teams busy Sunday, the day's headline is the intra-division scrap in Milwaukee between the defending champion Green Bay Packers and the St. Louis Cardinals, both victorious in last weekend's openers.

Other games send the New York Giants to Philadelphia, the Chicago Bears to Los Angeles, the San Francisco 49ers to Detroit, the Baltimore Colts to Minnesota and the Pittsburgh Steelers to Dallas.

Cleveland, Green Bay, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and Baltimore all registered opening-game triumphs.

2 Long TD Plays

Mitchell made two of his touchdowns against Dallas on a 92-yard kickoff return and an 81-yard pass play. When he plays at Cleveland Sunday, he'll see a "new look"

Brown attack, featuring increased inside running by Tom Wilson and the great Jim Brown. The Browns are fresh from a 17-7 decision over the Giants.

Green Bay and St. Louis both have an attack well balanced between running and passing. The Packers' Paul Hornung got off to a sizzling start in defense of his scoring title with 28 points in the 34-7 conquest of Minnesota. John Crow picked up 18 in the Cardinals' 27-21 decision over Philadelphia.

New York, 1961 Eastern crown holder, whipped the Eagles 27-10 in an exhibition finale. Each team has an injured quarterback, the Eagles' Sonny Jurgensen and the Giants' Y. A. Tittle, but both likely will play.

Chicago again will count heavily on the running of swift Willie Galt, who averaged 77 yards per carry in the Bears' 30-14 win over San Francisco. The Rams, a 30-27 loser to Baltimore, will have Jon Arnet sidelined by injuries. Former Ram Joe Marconi will be playing for the Bears.

Detroit's Milt Plunk, seeking his third straight NFL passing title, may find trouble puncturing the 49ers' pass defense, one of the West's toughest. Plunk and the Lions have routed Pittsburgh 45-7. Both teams could do a lot of scoring in this one.

Baltimore and Minnesota both do most of their traveling via the air. The Colts have one of the league's best in Johnny Unitas, but oddly, he hasn't thrown a pay off pass against the Vikings in the last two meetings of the teams, both won by Minnesota.

Sophomore Fran Tarkenton does the pitching for the Vikings.

Bobby Layne, Pittsburgh's old pro, needs only one touchdown pass for an all-time NFL record, and he'd like nothing better than to connect against Dallas in the Cotton Bowl. Right now, Layne's tied with another famous Texan, Sammy Baugh, with 187.

Yankee ticket orders must be accompanied by a certified check, banker's cashier check, United States money order or express money order. No telegraph money orders will be accepted.

The prices are $12 for a box seat, $8 for each reserve seat in the grandstand and $4 for each reserve seat in the bleachers. An additional $1 fee for mailing and handling must accompany each order.

Money orders and checks should be made payable to the New York Yankees and mailed to Yankee Stadium, Bronx 51, N.Y.

Eugene Wade, 52, Fined $100 for Drunken Driving

WAUPACA — Eugene M. Wade, 52, Eugene, Ore., pleaded guilty of drunken driving Friday when arraigned before Municipal Justice George Whalen. Wade was fined $100 and his driver's license was revoked for one year.

Wade was arrested shortly before midnight Thursday by John Bonnell, sheriff's deputy for driving erratically on State 22 in the Town of Dayton. He was held at the county jail until he was arraigned Friday.

Conservation Unit Purchases 15,050-Acre Marsh Near Montello

MONTELLO, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Conservation Department made its first large purchase at a sheriff's sale Thursday, bidding $97,000 for the 15,050-acre Endeavor Marsh in Marquette County.

The purchase, made against the bidding of farm interests, is subject to approval by the Conservation Commission, scheduled to meet today at La Crosse.

The land, bordering Highway 51 and Buffalo Lake north of Endeavor, was a former muck farm which had gone into receivership. It was sold in an auction on the courthouse steps. The department plans to reforest the land and manage it for waterfowl and hunting.

consequences which the policy practiced by the United States, in regard to the Republic of Cuba, can have for the cause of peace."

Unleashing of War
"An attack on Cuba would have implications about which the Soviet government warned the whole world in the well known statement issued on Sept. 11, 1962," Gromyko said.

That statement said a U.S. attack on Cuba "will be the beginning of the unleashing of war."

Gromyko said such issues "must be resolved by way of seeking reasonable arguments and elaborating decisions that would strengthen... peace."

Turning to Germany, Gromyko said the Soviet Union prefers to find an agreed solution of the Berlin problem. But he declared it is not ready "to accept indefinite delays in the conclusion of a German peace treaty."

He said if the Western powers would not sign a peace with one future Germany or both present Germanies, the Soviet Union and other countries would sign one with East Germany.

Then, he concluded, "West Berlin will be treated... as a free demilitarized city," because "the fact cannot be countenanced that West Berlin has become a military base of the NATO bloc."

Belling Pharmacy Says Let Your Doctor Decide if you need vitamin supplementation. The pharmacy, located at 204 E. College avenue, carries all types of vitamins, ranging in price, but they will not make you feel better unless you need vitamins. Let your doctor decide, Belling says

Belling says that vitamins are substances that are necessary for the growth, maintenance and repair of body tissues. There are many different vitamins, each performing a specific job. Vitamin deficiency occurs when- ever the body is not taking in the amount of vitamins it requires. Your vitamin requirements vary with the amount of work you do, your age, your physical condition — even your mental state. Belling Pharmacy states that a healthy individual eating a well- balanced diet usually receives adequate amounts of vitamins from his food. However, an individual's state of health can radically affect his nutritional status. On occasion, your physician may recommend a vitamin supplement even though he feels your diet is adequate. Your doctor is the best judge, Belling adds. If your doctor selects a vitamin preparation for you, he will prob- ably specify one made by an "ethical" manufacturer. Belling recommends a vitamin manufac- tured by a reputable house, such as Lilly, Abbott, Squibb, Parke Davis, Mead Johnson or Upjohn companies. "Let your doctor decide if you need vitamins — and then come to us," states Belling Pharmacy.

St. Norbert President to Talk to Alumni

Meeting Tuesday to Organize Alumni Club in Fox Cities

The Rev. Dennis M. Burke, O. Praem., president of St. Norbert College, will be on the program at Xavier High School at 8 p.m. Tuesday at a meeting for St. Norbert alumni being held there.

The meeting will be an organizational gathering for a St. Norbert alumni club in the Fox Cities area. All former students, including alumnae, are invited to attend. No reservations are necessary.

Father Burke has been president at St. Norbert since 1955. He is currently serving as president of the Wisconsin Foundation of Independent Colleges.

Native of Casco

A native of Casco, Father Burke graduated from St. Norbert in 1926. He later studied in Rome, where he received doctoral degrees in theology and canon law. After spending many years on the St. Norbert College faculty, Father Burke served as pastor of the St. Willebrord parish in Green Bay from 1947-1955, before coming the college's first full-time president.

Other College representatives also will be present Tuesday evening.

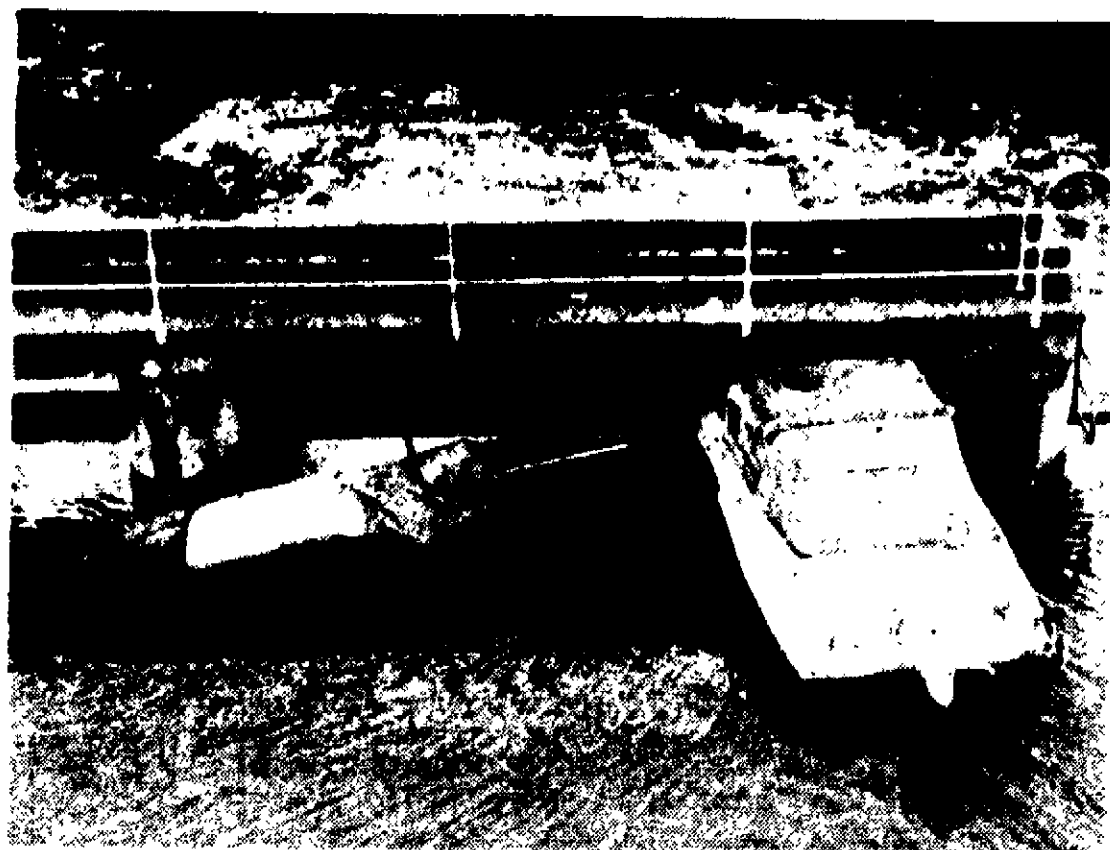

The planning committee for the meeting includes Paul Vanderheiden, the Rev. Alfred Lison, Thomas Martineau, Thomas Symons, Daniel Donarski, and Donald Laux, all of Appleton, and Robert Nackers and Larry Smits of Neenah.

Art Class Openings

Pastor Accepts Call for New Lutheran Parish

Sheboygan Man to Establish Church For Missouri Synod

The Rev. Hilbert P. Hilgendorf of Sheboygan has accepted the call of the Missouri Synod, North Wisconsin District, to establish and serve the new Lutheran parish which will be organized this fall on Appleton's southeast side.

Pastor Hilgendorf who has been serving Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Sheboygan, expects to move to Appleton by Oct. 15 and will begin his work immediately.

The District already owns a newly built education-worship building at the eastern end of College Avenue and is in the process presently of purchasing a house to serve as a parsonage. In addition to his duties in developing the new congregation, Pastor Hilgendorf will also serve Missouri Synod Lutheran students at Lawrence College.

Native of North Dakota

The new pastor is a native of Dickinson, N. Dak., where he was born April 22, 1931. He attended St. John's College, Winfield, Kan., and Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

In addition to his work at Sheboygan where he has been pastor since 1957, he also served congregations in Ill. City and Reiner, Minn. Before his ordination he taught at St. John's Lutheran School near Wausau. His father, the Rev. Theodore Hilgendorf, has a pastorate at Luxemburg, Wis.

He is married to the former Marion Schedler, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Schedler of Pekin, Ill. Pastor Schedler is a former pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church at Kaukauna. The Hilgendorfs have three daughters: Lynne, 7; Terri, 5; and Lori, 3. Actual organization of the new parish is planned for later this fall. A number of families of Faith Lutheran Church will receive their transfer and form the nucleus for the new congregation which will be a daughter church of Faith.

New London Man Severely Burned in Truck Accident

OSHKOSH — Donald E. Claassen, 39, route 3, New London, and back of his body and received third degree burns to received a cut on the head.

A witness who was driving by body when the semi-trailer and hind Claassen's truck said the tractor he was driving went off semi-trailer and tractor seemed burst into flames at 1:41 p.m. shot many feet upward. The truck then left the road, the witness told police.

He was in critical condition today at Mercy Hospital here.

Winneshago County police said Claassen was driving northeast on County Trunk M about one mile south of State 44. For an undetermined reason the truck went off the right side of the road, broke off a utility pole and a tree and came to rest against a fence 100 feet from the point where it left the highway.

The truck then burst into flames, police were told. Claassen was thrown from the truck.

Newman Club Hears

St. Norbert Teacher

Speak on Theology

The Christian student today not only must have an understanding of the theology, sociology, history and issues of the church, but must also "bear witness" to the realities of his faith, the Rev. Robert Brooks, O. Praem., chairman of the St. Norbert College sociology department, told the Lawrence College Newman Club Friday.

These issues of the church, he said, are the ecumenical movement, the relationship of science to theology, race relations, population, nuclear war and cultural relativism.

Father Brooks, a native of Green Bay, is a graduate of St. Norbert, and received his master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Notre Dame.

The Newman Club dinner was staged at St. Mary School, to welcome new students. Mrs. Ralph Whitehead, 302 S. Memorial Drive, was in charge.

Slayer of Young Girl

Admits Molesting

At Least 50 Others

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A 28-year-old gardener, accused of the rape-slaying of a 14-year-old girl from a Rochester suburb two weeks ago, says he's been molesting girls "as far back as I can remember both before and after I was married."

James R. Moore, charged yesterday with first-degree murder in the Sept. 6 suffocation death of Pamela Moss of Penfield, told police later that he had molested at least 50 other girls.

Monroe County Sheriff Albert W. Skinner said a nine-year-old girl identified Moore as the man who raped her in a Rochester park last July. He said Moore admitted the attack.

Moore was convicted two years ago of assault in the molesting of two young girls near Buffalo. Rochester police arrested him at his home in suburban Webster for Friday night through Sunday of next week.

New Concept of Welfare Growing

Man Pleads Guilty to Theft Charge

Daryl Meyers, 25, 131 S. Oneida St., waived preliminary hearing on five counts of burglary and pleaded guilty to one count of theft Friday when he appeared in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

Meyers is charged with break-ins at the Vocational School Sept. 7, the Ford Rexall Drug Store, Sept. 12, the H. C. Plange Co., and Wichman's Furniture Store Sept. 16, and Ed's Boat Sale and Moriarty's Service Station Sept. 14.

The boat mart and the service station break-ins occurred in Calumet County and have been consolidated with the other charges.

Meyers pleaded guilty to a theft charge involving the Ford Rexall break-in and will be sentenced next Friday. He did not enter pleas on the other five counts but will be ordered to do so next Friday. Meyers is being held in Outagamie County jail for the five counts of burglary and $150 for the theft count. Bond of $10,000 was not furnished.

Fete Slated For Store Anniversary

NEENAH — Shore Lane Shopping Area will stage its first anniversary observance tonight with a parade and street dance, since rain washed out Friday's program.

The parade of some 60 units will begin at 6 p.m. at Peckham Street and will proceed north on S. Commercial Street to Orange Street where it will disband.

Among units in the parade will be the St. Mary High School band, Neenah High School band, Boys' Brigade drum and bugle corps, Kaukauna Recreation Department band and the Freude accordion band of Appleton.

The parade also will mark the public debut of this year's Red Feather Helpers, Marilouise Jape and Richard Shoman, who will call attention to the Community Chest drive which opens Oct. 1.

A bratwurst fry and sale of beer and soft drinks will be held immediately after the parade on W. Cecil Street between Henry Street and Byrd Avenue, followed by a street dance from 9 to 12 p.m.

Ornithology Society Meets at State College

STEVENS POINT — The board of directors of the Wisconsin Society for Ornithology Inc. met today for a quarterly meeting on the campus of Stevens Point State College.

The meeting was called to order at 10 a.m. in the conference room of the college union by Alfred Holz, Green Bay, president of the society.

On the agenda was consideration of probable increases in the board and plans for the 1963 convention.

Arl C. Epple, Stevens Point, made a progress report on the Door County starling problem and the Bluebird Trails Project. Nils Dahlstrand, Rhinelander, will report for the publicity committee, and H. Lowell Hall, Milwaukee, legal counsel, will discuss political limitations on tax-free organizations.

Johnson said state purchases should fit into a county land use plan.

Rehabilitation, Retraining Important, Official Tells County Board Convention

Post-Crescent News Service

STURGEON BAY — Wilbur Schmidt, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, said Friday that the controversial rules laid down in Newburgh, N. Y., may have been a "misfired missile" but that they brought public attention to a new concept of welfare aids.

Speaking at the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention, Schmidt said 1962 changes in federal welfare laws, administered by states, reflect the change toward retaining the unemployed as opposed to the original purpose of welfare laws of helping families to reach a subsistence level.

Schmidt said Wisconsin may qualify for an additional $1-million under the new act, which would be distributed to county welfare programs as a possible help to county budgets.

State School Aid

The convention Friday also heard more backing of its action to get state payment of school taxes of state forest or recreational lands and heard a sharp split of opinion over the future of the 22 county teachers' colleges remaining in the state. "A modern welfare program has to be a problem-solving one," said Schmidt.

While much of the 1962 federal act remains to be defined, a $2,322 bill which covered pay-Schmidt said Wisconsin welfare ing work on N. Rankin and N. programs should qualify in areas Oaissa streets and S. Telulah where the new law increases federal aids from 50 to 75 per cent. Federal aids will increase for retraining, rehabilitation, and for in-service education and work toward master's degrees.

Day Care Centers

Schmidt said Wisconsin will get about $110,000 to help develop local day care centers for children to permit training or employment of mothers now part of the Aid to Dependent Children program.

Schmidt said he is hopeful that the new act will be defined to permit introduction of the retraining concept into general relief cases, now generally a local burden, "which would vastly change the character of county, city and town relief loads."

The convention Thursday adopted a resolution proposing an amendment to the 1961 10-year $50-million conservation lands buying program to permit use of some of the money to pay local property taxes when lands are taken off the tax rolls, and it got backing Friday from Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, Woodruff, and Assemblyman Lawrence Johnson, chairman of the Door County board.

"The fact remains that somebody, somewhere has to reimburse the local community when land is taken off the tax roll," Alfonsi said.

Alfonsi said that 14 per cent of Wisconsin area is federal or state acreage. He said in some northern counties the percentage is between 45 and 56 per cent and some towns have 80 per cent of their area in state-owned lands.

The result has been a shrinking of the tax base with an increase in local tax rates, Alfonsi said. The higher tax rates get the more difficult it is to attract industry or tourist development, he said.

Johnson agreed in explaining an amendment to the act which gives the Door County board power to block state purchases Door County already has 7,000 acres of state land, he said.

Johnson said state purchases should fit into a county land use plan.

Court Orders

Appleton to Pay Firm $1,192

Company Not Responsible for Extra Street Work

The Lee H. Parker Construction Co. has been awarded payment of $1,192.74 from the city of Appleton, Circuit Court records show.

The money is final payment of a $2,322 bill which covered pay-Schmidt said Wisconsin welfare ing work on N. Rankin and N. programs should qualify in areas Oaissa streets and S. Telulah where the new law increases federal aids from 50 to 75 per cent. Federal aids will increase for retraining, rehabilitation, and for in-service education and work toward master's degrees.

The first step is to tune up the orchestra. Each player must tap his glass gently with his spoon to discover what tone it produces. The idea is for each player to be responsible for playing a different note of the musical scale.

If you have a piano, strike middle "C" as a guide. Tell each player to take a sip from his glass, then strike it again with the spoon to see if he can produce the same tone as the piano's "C." The players will soon learn that the less lemonade there is in a glass the higher the note will be. Choose the glass that has the truest "C."

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

IF YOU WANT MORE FRIENDS, GIVE A BIG PARTY!

GOOD BAD

Bad. If you find it hard to make friends at school or in the community, giving a party probably won't help very much. The best way to make friends is to be friendly yourself. Be the first to speak when you meet someone you know. Smile and greet your acquaintances as though you are glad to see them. Ask questions and then listen when others speak; most people appreciate being asked for advice. Giving a party can be fun when you already have friends to enjoy it with — but it can be miserable bait when used just as a lure. Working makes a student appreciate an education.

True. Studies indicate that work experience makes pupils realize the value of more education. School and work programs make it possible for those who must leave school for financial reasons to continue their education. Actual experience on a job helps a pupil discover his occupational interests, aptitudes, and to know what training he needs to excel in the work of his choice. Getting a job doesn't have to mean the end of a student's education. It may actually encourage it. Is keeping house a wife's most important job?

Yes— No—

No, said most of some 580 wives who were asked this question. Some felt they contributed most by actually working with their husbands in the farm or business. Others worked to help support the family, or to save up enough money to enable the husband to go into business. Younger wives saw emotional support and encouragement as their most important contribution, even when they worked.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Do not say, "I cannot help but say that this is bad." Say, "I cannot help saying that this is bad."

Often mispronounced: Haydn (Austrian composer). Pronounce high-d'n, accent first syllable.

Often misspelled: Paradox; observe the "ra." Parody; "ro."

Synonyms: Drown, sink, immerse, swamp, overwhelm, engulf, deluge, inundate, submerge.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: emendation; a critical improvement by alteration of a text, especially of literary and artistic work. (Pronounce ee-men-day-shun, accent third syllable). "With careful emendations, the author brought his manuscript to perfection."

World War II Naval Commander Expires

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Vice Adm. Conrad Emil Lambert Helfrich, 78, commander of American-British-Dutch-Australian Naval Area forces in the Java Sea battle against the Japanese in World War II, died Thursday.

On behalf of the Dutch government he signed the Japanese act of capitulation aboard the U.S.S. Missouri in Tokyo Bay in 1945.

Unions Sign No Strike Pacts, Buck Red Menace

BY VICTOR RIESEL.

NEW YORK—Chairman Khrushchev publishes a "labor" newspaper called Trud. I have for its paper editors a story which they should run on its front page. But they won't. For this story reveals what free working people, where they can freely express themselves, think of the Socialist Soviet State.

Not so long ago, my good friend Neil Haggerty, leader of some three million unionized American building and construction workers, urged his people just never to strike a space testing base, a missile site, or a military defense center.

"Our grievances on the job," said Haggerty, "are minor compared to our main grievance against the Communist leaders who are threatening us and all free men so boldly."

If Reds Prevail

"Unfortunately, we can't get that problem settled by an impartial commission, as we can with our job problems."

"Remember, if the Kremlin prevails, we won't have to worry any more about anti-labor legislation."

"The penalty for work stoppages will be death at dawn before a firing squad."

Haggerty is softer spoken than another Irishman, Mike Quill, shillagh-carrying leader of the militant Transport Workers Union. But Mike, in his way, has quietly shown Chairman Khrushchev.

The Transport Workers Union has just signed a voluntary, permanent no-strike pledge with Pan-American World Airways' defense divisions. And to Mike and Jim Horst, head of the union's Air Transport Division, a no-strike pledge is second only to the development of a fatal blight on the shampoos of the world.

Vital Defense

But there was never any doubt amongst Mike and Jim and their 13,000 followers in Pan-Am's employ that taking a no-strike pledge plan, like one being prepared in Door County, and that the state should pay local taxes after its ownership passes a certain percentage of the county total area.

Close Teachers' College

Assemblyman Walter Calvert, chairman of the Assembly education committee, told the delegates that the next legislative session would receive bills to close county teachers' colleges by 1968, calling for four years of college for teachers by 1971, allowing the state Coordinating Committee on Higher Education to turn county colleges into university or state college extensions, or allowing the committee to develop the colleges as area vocational schools.

Donald Quistorff, chairman of the Kewaunee County board, took sharp issue with these plans in reading remarks of Fred Kambach, Door-Kewaunee college board member, who could not be present.

It is not true that the county colleges have outlived their usefulness, Quistorff said, because they serve as a feeder for state colleges, continue to serve their thinly populated areas, and emphasize "method" in teaching.

Cannot Meet Need

About 300 teachers each year for 15 years will be needed in Wisconsin, a need which the state colleges cannot meet, he said. About 88 per cent of the annual increase in total teachers the last five years has come from the county schools, he said.

The County Board Association re-elected its officers at its closing convention session.

Those named to new terms were Walter Diercks, president, Langlade County board chairman; Franklin Jahnke, vice president, chairman of the Green Lake County Board, and D. C. McDowell, secretary-treasurer, chairman of the Crawford County Board.

Invitations for the 1963 convention were received from Shawano, Oshkosh, Rice Lake and Eagle River.

To Your Good Health Thumbsucker Needs Love, Not Pacifier

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about the wisdom of giving a baby a pacifier? — Mrs. F.J.B.

Of late there seems to be a change of attitude. Many pediatricians no longer object to pacifiers, mainly on the basis of thumb-sucking. The Air Line Pilots' Association, the Flight Engineers, and the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

Half of these no-strike pacts covering defense operations were signed in April 1959. The Railway Clerks signed their no-walk-out pact last July, the Teamsters on Sept. 5.

To break such a pledge, though they won't, these unions must give the company two years' notice in writing. That gives them plenty of time to cool off. With the TWU signature the other day, Pan-American now has the promise of all its unions that there will not be a defense stoppage, regardless of what they do on the line's commercial end.

No Justification

Why have these usually tough bargaining unions yielded their sacred right to strike? Why should Neil Haggerty have told his men, who build the bases on which the other union men work, that—

... in spite of the irritations and the provocations and the red tape that cause tempers to flare up, I say to you as strongly as I can that there is absolutely no justification or valid excuse for work stoppage at any missile base at any time."

Why? Because they know that Communism is a hangman. Its

All-Time Record of Vehicles Registered

Totals Broken Down, Revenues Listed For Fiscal Year in State, Counties

An all-time record of 1,670,545 vehicles in Wisconsin was registered during the 1961-62 fiscal year ending June 30, the motor vehicle department has announced.

The latest tabulations include 1,357,457 autos; 238,757 trucks; 33,582 trailers; 22,968 government vehicles; 12,850 motorcycles, and 4,931 buses.

Registration revenues totaled $41,741,748. The addition of other fees, including more than $2 million in driver license fees, brought department revenues for the fiscal year to $44,514,445.

Fees Go Back

After being turned over to the state highway fund, 20 per cent of auto registration fees go back to the local tax district in which a car is domiciled, and the return on most trucks in 11 per cent.

In Outagamie County, 41,164 vehicles were registered, bringing in a total revenue of $1,060,475. Vehicles registered in Calumet County totalled 10,022; revenue was $283,355.

A total of 43,576 vehicles was registered in Winnebago County, bringing revenue of $1,067,577. The 16,820 vehicles registered in Waupaca County brought in a net revenue of $388,843.

Breakdowns of Vehicles

In Outagamie County, 34,055 autos; 5,324 trucks; 714 trailers; 122 buses; 33 motorcycles, and 416 municipal vehicles were registered.

In Calumet County, 7,526 autos; 1,943 trucks; 308 trailers; 9 buses; 64 motorcycle, and 172 municipal vehicles were registered.

In Winnebago County, 37,342 autos; 4,785 trucks; 688 trailers; 57 buses; 361 motorcycles, and 363 municipal vehicles were registered.

In Waupaca County, 13,041 autos; 2,929 trucks; 303 trailers; 12 buses; 182 motorcycles, and 353 municipal vehicles were registered.

Forest Junction Union Station To be Replaced

Railroads Moving Greenleaf Depot To Village Site

FOREST JUNCTION — The union depot used jointly by the Milwaukee Road and Chicago and North Western Railway for about 75 years will be replaced.

Alice G. Boye, station agent, has been authorized to receive bids for removal of the building. A similar building from Greenleaf will replace it.

A temporary office will be opened in a railroad camp car on a Milwaukee Road siding. Business will be conducted there while the old building is being razed and the replacement is being brought in.

Available railroad records do not disclose the date of construction of the present depot. A history of Forest Junction, published in 1943, says it was built in 1887, replacing one destroyed by fire on the other side of the track.

The first railroad station, according to the history, was a mere wooden platform erected by the Appleton and New London Railway in 1872, several rods east of the present railroad crossing.

NEW YORK — e. e. cummings, writer of unorthodox verse, left his estate, tentatively estimated at $15,000, to his wife in a will filed for probate Friday in Surrogates Court.

Although accompanying papers valued the estate at $15,000 in personal property, Alfred Rice, who filed the will, said this did not include royalties on Cummings' poems or the value of his oil paintings.

Emancipation for Slaves

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy marked the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation today by saying it "must be regarded not as an end but a beginning."

The President's prepared remarks were carried by radio and television to the nation and to ceremonies here marking the return to Washington of the original draft of the proclamation that Abraham Lincoln first made public 100 years ago.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was to present the document to Allan Nevins, chairman of the National Civil War Centennial Commission.

Also speaking at ceremonies on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial were Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and U.S. Dist. Judge Thurgood Marshall.

Owned By New York

The draft of the proclamation was sent to Albany, N.Y., in 1864 where it was raffled off to a bazaar for wounded Union soldiers. The state of New York purchased it and has possessed it since.

Kennedy said Lincoln's proclamation, which freed three million

Negro slaves in 19 Southern states, launched a century that "since has seen the struggle to convert freedom from rhetoric to reality. It has been in many respects a somber story."

The President said that during much of the period Negroes were divided by segregation, denied the vote, subjected to terror and refused equal opportunity for education and employment.

"Looking back at this period, one must observe two remarkable facts," Kennedy said.

Retained Loyalty

"The first is that despite humiliation and deprivation, the Negro retained his loyalty to the United States and to democratic institutions . . . The second is that despite deprivation and humiliation the Negro has never stopped working for his own salvation . . ."

"It can be said, I believe, that Abraham Lincoln emancipated the slaves, but that in this century since our Negro citizens have emancipated themselves," Kennedy continued.

"And the task is not finished. Much remains to be done to eradicate the vestiges of discrimination and segregation, to make equal rights a reality for all of our people . . ."

BOSS CLAIMS A LITTLE BIT OF FIRING DOES A LOT

BY CYRUS BARRETT, JR.

DEAR CY:

In my day, I have worked in numerous offices and seen people work hard and seen people who goofed off a lot. You mentioned ways to reduce absenteeism but you didn't mention firing offenders right on the spot.

When I finally got moved up to a position of authority, I began firing people who didn't show up for work when they could have. It only took two such firings to get results.

Tell your readers this and they can avoid a lot of red tape with employees.

DUNCAN S.

DEAR DUNCAN S.:

It costs a lot of money to hire and fire potentially good people. I don't condone the methods you use. A way to beat firing is to give each employee two weeks vacation a year, plus an extra week for perfect attendance. Every time an employee is absent or late, a certain amount of time is deducted, and, for being late eight times, a day could be deducted. For cases where the employee is definitely sick or hospitalized, his immediate superior decides to what extent the bonus vacation is to be reduced.

Did you ever think it can be easier to entice a human being than to bludgeon him?

I operate a small florist shop and would like to create my own displays to hold gift items as well as the main items we sell.

Do you know of any displays or pieces for displays that would adapt to my own designs? I would like them so that one week they would look one way, and in a month or so I could completely rearrange the display.

DEAR LOUIS:

A new and entirely different concept for create-it-yourself displays is made by Octopus Products of Long Island City, New York. With only a few units, you can make shelving and displays that can be easily rearranged. A basis for this construction assembly. Results are striking and contemporary in design. People seeing your displays will realize how adaptable they would be for room dividers in the home.

DEAR CY:

My wife and another woman collided on their way to town at an intersection. The other woman was driving her husband's company car, and it was hardly scratched. My car looked like someone had run a giant file down the side and hit it with a sledge hammer. Still, it didn't look like it would cost too much.

This morning I drove the car into the body shop. You know how much they are charging me to fix it? $110! I claim that is an outright gift! What do you think they should charge?

DEAR PHELPS:

Even if I saw the car, I wouldn't know to the penny what

Nancy Kelly Has Lead In 'Step on a Crack'

Actress From Wisconsin Replaces Rita Hayworth in Broadway Cast

BY JINGO

One of Wisconsin's contingent of Hollywood and Broadway talents has stepped in to try and save a Broadway-bound comedy. She took over from a giant movie name before the show had its first try-out.

The talent is Nancy Kelly, who replaced Rita Hayworth as Gary Merrill's leading lady in "Step on a Crack." The show's backers thereby gave up the ephemeral news value of Miss Hayworth's Broadway debut for the more practical consideration of Miss Kelly's considerable skill and experience.

In the cast will be a young lady who passed through the Fox Cities a season ago. She's Barbara Mattes. We saw her as the ingenue in Joan Bennett's road production of "Pleasure of His Company."

The road company we'll be watching next Saturday thanks to the Variety Theater and the Appleton Gallery of Arts isn't likely to contain anyone moving up the ladder as Miss Mattes was. The cast reads like an old all-star attraction, filled with actors who have beamed their brilliance into your living room many an evening.

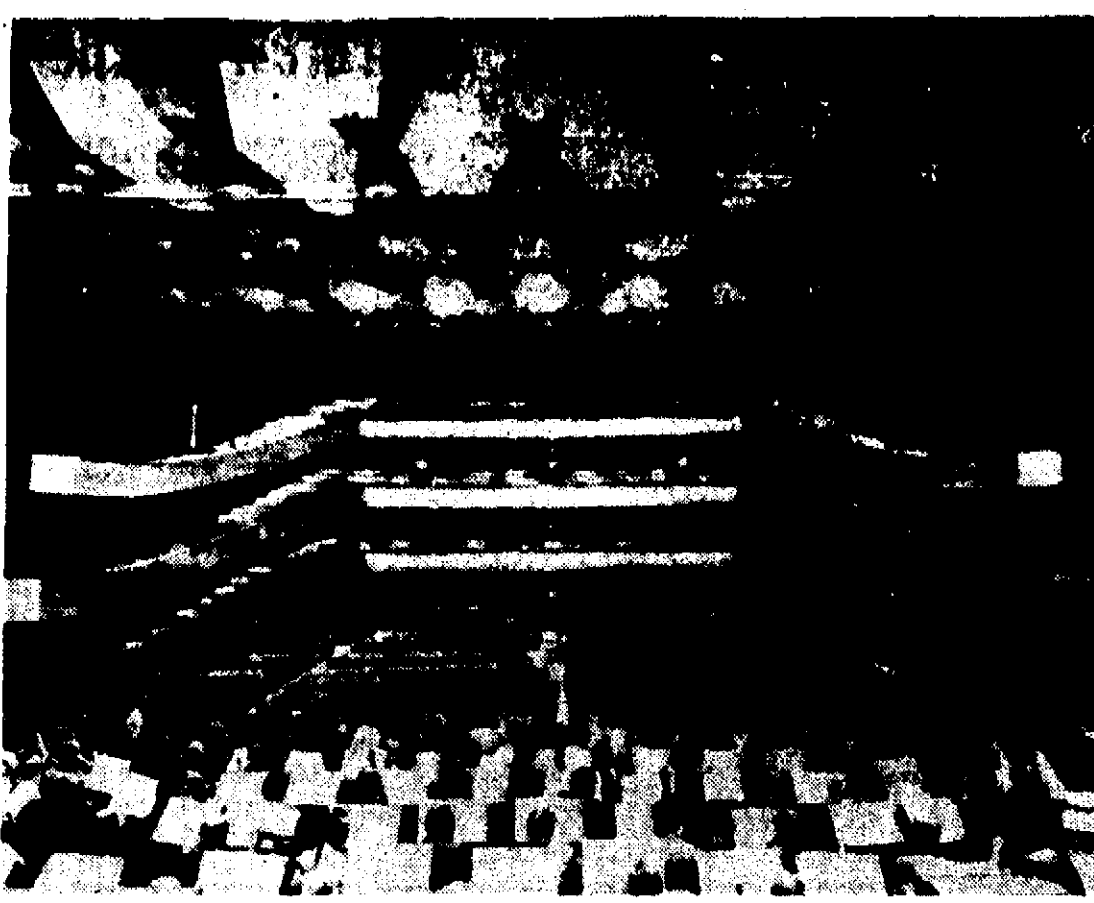

Jean Kerr's "Mary, Mary" apparently is so good, the producer just couldn't help himself from casting on the same level as the writing.

Speaking of Variety Theater, don't forget the big season opens tonight. The Mills Brothers will be casting their magical charm at Appleton High School with a stellar show in support. Part of the variety entertainment will have some old friends in it. The Sue Charles dancers made the Seymour Fair awhile ago and Peter Palmer's Orchestra appeared at the Oshkosh Fair with Dennis Day.

C. S. Forester's new best-seller "Hornblower and the Hotspur" sheds some light on the Broadway and Hollywood luminary Robert Goulet. The locale of the swashbuckling tale is the Goulet, a treacherous arm of the English Channel.

Robert, not at all treacherous, is being considered for the part of Leadville Johnny in MGM's rendition of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" with Shirley MacLaine in the title role. He also will be appearing on TV as the star of Bob Hope's March 6 special.

Backstage word from "The Victims" film set proves Vince "Ben

Gala Inaugural Concert

Philharmonic Hall, First Building in Lincoln Center, to Open Sunday

BY BILL BENDER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the nation's history pays its first dividend Sunday.

Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts opens the doors to Philharmonic Hall, the new home of the New York Philharmonic and Stephen Fuqua, 11, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. LaVahn Maesch, 108 E. Atlantic St., is a member of the boys' choir that is singing Sunday with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra at the inaugural concert in Philharmonic Hall.

The concert is being televised nationally from 8 to 10 p.m. Sunday night. Stephen is a student at the Columbus Boychoir School in Princeton, N.J. The school choir is the same one that appeared on the Lawrence College Artists Series two years ago. LaVahn Maesch is the director of Lawrence College Conservatory of music.

the city's first new orchestral concert hall in 71 years.

For New York, the inaugural concert by the Philharmonic under conductor Leonard Bernstein will be a gala event. High society in full dress will help make it so. But it will be only the first of a week's series of concerts and recitals marking the debut of the $15.4 million musical house.

Symbol of Culture

As the first completed structure of the Lincoln Center, the high-sounded under real concert conditions, glass-walled Philharmonic Hall is a symbol of much more than just another concert hall. To those who had the dream modified.

As recently as last June, a quarter of a million dollars had to be spent on the acoustical system when dead spots—in which certain instruments are not as audible as in others—were discovered during tests.

The hall's companion buildings at Lincoln Center are all to be completed by 1966 at a total cost of $142 million.

Four-fifths of the $142 million price tag has already been raised through gifts, pledges and authorizations by private donors and city, state and federal governments.

Other Concerts

The Philharmonic will give a second concert Wednesday night, including music by Richard Strauss, Haydn, Vivaldi and Stravinsky.

Monday the Boston Symphony, its new music director Erich Leinsdorf and pianist John Browning will give the premiere of Samuel Barber's "First Piano Concerto."

The next night Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra will present the premiere of Walter Piston's "Lincoln Center Festival Overture," and U.N. Ambassador Atila E. Stevenson will narrate Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait."

Thursday's concert by the Cleveland Orchestra under George Szell will offer the New York premiere of Alvin Eiler's "Concerto in One Movement."

American Premiere

On Saturday, the Metropolitan Opera orchestra and chorus, under Swiss conductor Ernest Ansermet, will give the American premiere of Manuel de Falla's dramatic cantata, "Atlantida."

There will be other concerts by the New York Pro Musica, the Juilliard String Quartet, the Juilliard Orchestra and the duo of pianists Arthur Gold and Robert Fizdale.

By week's end, the critics, and the Lincoln Center fathers, should have a good idea of how the hall at Lincoln Center, the high-sounded under real concert conditions, glass-walled Philharmonic Hall is a symbol of much more than just another concert hall. To those who had the dream modified.

BY TV SCOUT

4-4:30 (Channel 4-3) — Bowling in the busy Saturday sports schedule is the new National Football League Highlights program. This will have Jim Leaming and film clips from last week's pro contests.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — Perry Mason's repeat has television's oldest established lawyer mixed up with two fathers, both of whom claim to have sired a girl lately become an heiress. There's also a murder — with the girl the accused — so Perry has his hands full of trouble. Playing the two claimants are Hayden Rorke and Francis De Sales.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-3) — Until Perry Mason moves, there are two competing law firms at this Saturday hour. The other is the upstart Sam Benedict, starring Edmond O'Brien. This week he again juggles about a dozen cases at once, but two occupy most of his time. These involve Jack Weston, an obnoxious comedian in whose suitcase the police find drugs, and Katherine Ross, a judge's teen-aged daughter accused of a hit-and-run homicide. Around the fringes are other cases — a shady publisher accused of libel, O'Brien himself and some bad checks and even a little Chinese cub scout with a crying need for help.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Defenders has another fine exercise in justice, with perhaps a little more melodrama than usual to add some spice. In this one, James Broderick is accused of shooting a small girl while out hunting. The incident takes place in a remote upstate New York county where the natives actively hate "outsiders." E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed come to help, and find the sheriff (Henry Jones), the judge (Thomas Chalmers) and the district attorney (Sorrell Booke) railroad the accused to the electric chair—or worse.

8-10 (Channel 4-3) — Saturday Night at the Movies starts its second season this week. Like last year, it begins on a note of light comedy, by presenting "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," a rousing musical comedy starring Marilyn Monroe, Jane Russell, Charles Coburn, Tommy Noonan and Elliott Reid. (Color)

8-10 (Channel 2) — Gunsmoke departs from its usual diet this week to offer a character study of a man who has spent his life in a cruel orphanage. Escaping, she makes her way to Dodge City where her naive gets her and everyone she meets into trouble—she finds that whiskey and kissing are not exactly what she had imagined they would be.

Car Strikes Bridge

OSHKOSH—A 40-year-old Fond du Lac driver, Daniel F. McCormick, escaped injury after his car struck a bridge abutment over the Van Dyne Creek and careened into the creek at 6:58 p.m. Friday.

He was headed south on U.S.

Valley SAM Chapter Will Hear Kuehn

Philip G. Kuehn, Republican gubernatorial candidate, will address the Fox Valley Chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management at the Menasha Hotel. The meeting is the first of the 1962-63 season for SAM, and will be open to the general public as well as members and guests.

Kuehn will speak on "What are the governor's responsibilities to the business manager?" The dinner meeting begins at 6:30 p.m. Kuehn will campaign in the Fox Cities during the day. His complete itinerary has not been determined as yet.

Kuehn will oppose Democrat John W. Reynolds in the Nov. 6 election. He won the GOP nomination Sept. 11 in a spirited race with Wilbur Renk, Sun Prairie farmer.

Reservations should be made with Wayne Skidmore at the Meyer Corp., Neenah, by Tuesday.

the car was estimated at $350.

Let IBC show you how to SAVE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS IN BUILDING A NEW HOME
It's easy when you do part of the finishing yourself. You can own and enjoy an IBC HOME for less than you may now pay in rent. Our unique building program has proven this to hundreds of families from coast to coast. With this program you don't need a penny down—only a lot. And that lot can be in town or out in the country. IBC erects the shell, does the heavy work. You do the finishing and SAVE THOUSANDS. Or, if you prefer, IBC will complete your home. Either way you save with IBC HOMES. So, regardless of your income there's an IBC HOME to fit your budget. Complete financing is available.

11 Added to Faculty at Appleton High

English Department Alone Increases Staff by Five

Eleven new teachers have joined the staff at Appleton High School this year.

Lee Schoeni, new head of the speech department, comes to Appleton after teaching for five years in the Cedar Grove public schools. He earned a B.S. degree at Platteville State College, and has done graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, where he will complete work for his M.S. degree next summer.

Schoeni teaches seniors, and is the sponsor for dramatics and forensics. The English department has gained five new faces. Mrs. Alan Stoner teaches junior and sophomore honor classes in English, and is sponsor for the handbook. She received a B.A. from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and has done graduate work at Arizona State University. She has taught in Chandler, Ariz., and Stockton, Calif.

Teaches English
Mrs. Sylvia Schwertlger teaches sophomore and junior English, and is co-advisor to the Future Teachers club. Originally from Menasha, she earned a B.S. at Oshkosh State College and now lives in Oshkosh.

Also joining the English staff is Miss Mary Jane Topp, who was graduated from Platteville State College and did graduate work at the University of Colorado. She taught for two years at Fort Atkinson and for one year at Malega Core, Palar Verdes Estates, Calif. She is a co-sponsor of the Pep Club.

Roger D. Gruman will teach sophomore and junior English, and is sponsor for one-act plays. He has a B.S. from Stevens Point State College.

R. Chesla Sharp will teach sophomore English and be a sponsor for dramatics. He has taught in Watertown and Brandon. Sharp earned a B.A. and B.S. at Carson-Newman College and an M.A. at the University of Tennessee, and has done graduate work at the University of Chicago and the University of Wisconsin.

Business Teacher
An addition to the business department staff is Robert Hurlbutt, who teaches shorthand, typing and everyday business. He has a B.S. from Whitewater State College, and taught at Marathon, Hibb School and Wausau Technical Institute.

The new senior physics teacher is Bruce Armstrong, who earned a B.S. at Oshkosh State College. He taught physics and mathematics and coached football and track at De Pere High School before coming to Appleton. James Lackore teaches American history, economics and political science to juniors and seniors. He has a B.A. from Hamline University and a B.S. from Winona State College. He was an intelligence officer with the U.S. Air Force and worked for the federal government before entering teaching here. He will assist with the debate team.

Harold G. Hoecherl teaches orchestra and strings on the elementary, junior high and senior high school levels. He has a B.A. from Northland College, and has taught in Bayfield and Ashland. Miss Naomi Staerkel is working in the high school library. She received her B.S. at Wisconsin State College and her M.A. in library science at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn. She was a librarian at Nath-

Four Area Army Men End Training Programs

Four Fox Cities servicemen have recently completed training programs with the U.S. Army. Pvt. Ronald E. Warns and Pvt. Richard M. Gauerke completed five-week single rotor observation helicopter maintenance courses at the Aviation School, Fort Rucker, Ala.

Warns, 23, is the son of Joseph R. Warns, 907 Henry St., Neenah, and Gauerke, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin W. Gauerke, 1003 W. Oklahoma St., Appleton. Gauerke is a 1961 graduate of Winneconne High School.

Other Army men completing training courses were Cadets Keith J. Verstegen and Gerald L. Dougherty.

Verstegen, 20, son of Mrs. Leo Verstegen, 1124 E. Garfield Ave., Little Chute, a cadet in the ROTC program at St. Norbert College, spent six weeks at summer camp at Fort Riley, Kan.

Dougherty, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dougherty, 324 S. Mueller St., Appleton, is in the ROTC program at the University of Notre Dame. He took his summer training at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Pa.

Thomas O. Traband, Wood River, Ill., has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force after graduating from Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex. Traband is married to the former Judith A. Beglinger, 1425 S. Mason St., Appleton. He is being assigned to MacDill AFB, Fla., as an information officer.

Traband
Pvt. John C. Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Zimmerman, 1124 E. Byrd St., Appleton, completed four weeks of advanced Marine combat training with the First Infantry Training Regiment at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Zimmerman
Four Appleton Navy men recently completed Navy training exercises.

Kenneth A. Widder and William D. Kranzsch are undergoing nine weeks of basic recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Widder is the son of Mrs. Irene Ingalls of 2002 Owassa St., and Kranzsch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orson H. Kranzsch, 722 N. Division St.

Midshipman 2C Robert B. Borsum, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Borsum, 1822 N. Appleton St., recently completed an orientation trip of the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Tex., as a midshipman of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Wisconsin.

Borsum
Seaman Recruit Thomas M. Syring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Syring, 503 Memorial Drive, completed two weeks of active duty training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Pfc. Thomas J. Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne G. Frank, 604 Gertrude St., Kaukauna, was recently promoted while serving at Hale High School for six years and at James Madison Junior High School last year. She is sponsor of the scholarship committee.

Kimberly Home Damaged by Fire

KIMBERLY — Extensive smoke damage and a partially burned door were reported at the Eugene Newhouse residence, 322 S. Ann St., about 10:10 a.m. Friday.

Firemen reported the blaze started in a waste basket in a utility room off the kitchen. The family smelled smoke and was unable to locate the fire immediately. When the utility door was opened, flames flared and the volunteer unit was called.

When firemen arrived, the owner was attempting to extinguish the blaze with a water hose. Firemen spent about an hour extinguishing the blaze and clearing the house of smoke.
